By FRANKLIN KIBLER Nearly 400 persons attended the annual banquet of the Pickaway County Farmer's and Sportsman's association held Wednesday evening in Memorial hall with M. C.
"Boss" Johnson, of Aurora, Ind., as the speaker.

Mr. Johnson, humorist, radio entertainer, farmer and veteran coon hunter, kept the guests laughing at his jokes and stories of unusual experiences. At the same time he impressed on them the need for conservation of wildlife.

"It would be a fine thing if we all used muzzle-loading rifles and shotguns," the speaker said. "Unless we are careful there will be nothing left in many places to satisfy the frontier spirit of American youth. If every American boy could be reared where he could learn more of nature there would be fewer in correctional institutions."

Hunters; Not Sportsmen
"We have too many hunters and not enough sportsmen," the speaker said. He urged sportsmen to create the friendship of the farmer and land owner. "No conservation program in Ohio or any other state can be successful without the cooperation of the farmer."

Throughout his address Mr.
Johnson passed out numerous jokes and told of interesting experiences in hunting and in his radio work.

The speaker said his first broadcast was made 12 years ago when a friend introduced him to listeners at a Chicago station. "I don't know what I said and never found anyone who remembered hearing me," he explained. During the last twelve years he has received 93,000 letters which he considered the "handclaps of friends I never expect to meet."

He told of one letter received from Point Barrow, another from a convict released to attend a funeral and later paroled through the influence of the speaker.

Some of the horrors of last year's flood along the Ohio river were told by Mr. Johnson. He praised the work of the Red Cross and thanked residents of this

10 Passengers, Members Of Crew Unhurt As Plane Lands In South

RICHLANDS, N. C., March 10—
(UP)—The flagship Illinois, giant American airlines mail and transport plane, landed safely in a plowed field near here at 6:30 a. m., today after Pilot B. A. Carpenter battled wind, fog and rain for nearly eight hours seeking a place to set the big ship down.

The seven passengers, including Peggy Fears, glamour girl of the New York stage in years past, slept undisturbed until a few moments before the forced landing.

None of the passengers or the crew of three was injured. Damage to the sleeper plane was confined to a wing and a propeller but was sufficient to prevent any attempt to take off again.

Carpenter loaded his passengers and the crew in private automobiles and started for Charleston, S. C., where another American airlines plane from Washington will pick them up to continue the flight to Los Angeles by way of Atlanta.

"Fortunate," Says Pilot
"It was a very good landing under the circumstances," Carpenter said. "We were most fortunate.
There was no alarm. The passenger were awakened just before the landing but previously they had been unaware of what was happening."

"Visibility was just about the worst I have ever seen."

FARMERS BEGIN
CROP PROGRAM
TALKS MARCH 14

Schedule of township meetings for presentation of the 1938 farm program to Pickaway county farmers was announced Thursday by John Boggs, chairman of the county Agricultural Conservation committee.

The meetings start Monday,
March 14, and continue to Friday, March 25. Meetings in all districts will be held at 7:30 p. m.
The meeting on Friday, March 25, will be held in the Farm Bureau home. Farmers who find it impossible to attend the meetings in their townships are urged to attend the meeting in Circleville.

Speakers at the meetings will be Mr. Boggs, Wilbur Brinker, Walnut township and G. H. Armstrong, Saltcreek township, committee members, Paul Mattheas, compliance agent, and F. K. Blair, county extension agent.

Following is the schedule of meetings: Darby and Wayne, March 14; Deercreek and Washington, March 15; Duvall and Walnut, March 16; Jackson, March 17; Madison and Saltcreek, March 21;
Monroe and Pickaway, March 22; Muhlenberg, March 23; Atlanta and Scioto, March 24, and the Circleville meeting on March 25.

All meetings, with the exception of those in Circleville and Muhlen-berg township, will be held in township school buildings. The Muhlenberg meeting will be held in the township house.

CHILLICOTHEAN RELEASED
AFTER CHARGE IS SETTLED

Frank J. Burkley, 64, of Church street, Chillicothe, who has been in the county jail since Feb. 4 on bad check charges, was released Thursday by Squire B. T. Hedges after his case had been settled and dismissed.

Burkley, officers said, was accused of issuing checks on a bank in which he had no account.

French Premier, Cabinet
Quit in Financial Split

TWO of the leaders in the French cabinet crisis are shown above.
They are Premier Camille Chautemps, left, and former Finance Minister Paul Reynaud. Chautemps is leading a campaign to change France's passive attitude toward Hitler and Mussolini.
Reynaud is being mentioned as a successor to Yvon Delbos, as foreign minister.

Chautemps May Be Asked to Organize New Unit; Gigantic Loan Being Sought

PARIS, March 10.—(UP)—Premier Camille Chautemps and his cabinet resigned today, after seven weeks and two days in office, because their own followers in the popular front coalition had rejected their demand for extraordinary financial powers to safeguard the treasury.

With his written resignation in his pocket, Chautemps faced the Chamber of Deputies today to make a ministerial declaration in which he announced that Socialists and Communists of the popular front coalition refused to support him.
He said that unless they changed their minds, he would resign.

Socialists and Communists remained unmoved. With a gesture of disgust, Chautemps left the tribune, waved to his cabinet ministers to follow him and at an informal meeting in a chamber anteroom the cabinet made its final decision.

Members went at once to the Elysee palace where President Albert Lebrun was waiting, and there Chautemps handed the President the resignation.

New Cabinet Sought
Lebrun began consultations at once with political leaders in hope of selecting a new premier—perhaps Chautemps himself—by tonight, so that a reorganized ministry could face Parliament not later than the middle of next week to make its declaration and seek a vote of confidence.

Last week the government obtained parliamentary approval for a gigantic rearmament program, entailing the provision of an autonomous defense fund.

This meant a national defense loan of some $475,000,000. Considerable doubt was entertained in money markets whether the loan would prove attractive with the Communists still in the coalition and the Franc weakened.

AUSTRIANS FEAR DISTURBANCES
IN SUNDAY VOTE

VIENNA, March 10.—(UP)— Troops, gendarmes and police forces guarded key cities of Austria in force today, fearing outbreaks by angry Nazis as the result of Chancellor Kurt Schus-chnigg's call for a national plebiscite Sunday on the country's independence.

Gendarmerie and police reserves were mobilized for emergency service and ordered on duty to supplement the regular forces.

It was reported that leaders of the Heimwehr veterans' associations and the Catholic storm troopers had sent secret orders to their men to observe a week-end
"state of alarm," ready at instant notice to reinforce troops, gen-darmes and police.

KANSAS CITY GIRL, 20, GAINS STRENGTH AFTER DANGEROUS OPERATION

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 10.—(UP)—Sylvia Eugenia
Davis continued to show improvement today from a dangerous spinal operation that she underwent in the hope that it would give her the use of her arms and legs, which were paralyzed at birth.

The 20-year-old girl was conscious most of the time and wanted to talk, but her physician at St. Luke's hospital advised her to remain quiet.

COURT HEARING
DAVEY CHARGES

Bradley, Named As Perjurer, Goes Before Cleveland
Municipal Judge

CLEVELAND, March 10.—(UP)— Hearing of perjury charges brought by Governor Davey against Lee Bradley, star witness in the recent state senate graft investigation, opened today before Chief Justice Burt Griffin in municipal court.

Counsel for Bradley, who testified he acted as "contact man" for Davey in the 1934 campaign, was expected to challenge the warrants for Bradley's arrest on the ground that statements attributed to him in the warrant were not actually made by him.

Under subpoena were six of the seven members of the senate graft committee; James Metzbaum, their counsel; Dwight Matchette, senate clerk; two court steno-graphers who took Bradley's original testimony, newspaper reporters and others.

Assistant County Prosecutors Neil W. McGill and Joseph Jaglenski represented the state.
Gov. Davey is expected to testify.

USED CAR WEEK PROVES SUCCESS
IN CIRCLEVILLE

National Used Car Exchange
Week has "clicked" in Circleville, automobile dealers declared Thursday as the clerk of court's office disclosed figures showing increases in certification of title during the last week.

Since last Saturday purchases of 44 used car and four new automobiles have been recorded in the clerk's office. This total is far above the number changing hands in any given period since the certificate of title law became effective.

Expressions from dealers, elated by the success of the week, best tell the story of the campaign to remove used cars from the market.
One said:

"More people are interested in used cars this week than in all of February."
Another declared:

"The Used Car Exchange week has proved very successful. Conditions in the used car field are much-improved."

A third stated:

"We are very well satisfied with results. In addition to some splendid sales we have interviewed more prospective buyers for cars than we have known in many months."

DEATHS OF TWO OHIOANS
IN PLANE CRASH STUDIED

MANFIELD, March 10.—(UP)— Department of Commerce inspectors were expected here today to investigate an airplane crash which killed Glen Gages, 28, licensed pilot and manager of a privately owned airport, and Theodore Crum, a friend.

Gages was killed instantly and Crum died in a hospital a half hour after the crash at dusk yesterday.

Witnesses said they were about to land on the Gages airport four miles west of here, when the plane went into a dive from approximately 1,000 feet.

Preliminary steps to obtain electricity for rural residents in the southwestern portion of Pick-day by a committee of the Mt.

Pleasant church Brotherhood.

William D. Radcliff, mayor of Williamsport, E. C. Rector and H.
W. Campbell went to Canal Winchester where they met officials of the Ohio Midland Light & Power Co.

Company officials informed them that a preliminary survey would be started next week to determine the cost of lines and the number of prospective customers in the territory wanting current.
It has been roughly estimated there are 150 prospective consumers.

Large District Included
The territory in which the group is interested is the district south of Route 22 between Deer creek and Route 104.

Appointment of the committee to contact the power company was made at a meeting of the Brotherhood on Tuesday evening. The committee was named by Mr.
Rector, president of the organization.

Other members of the committee, in addition to those who made the trip to Canal Winchester, are Edward Dowden, John D. Carter, Clarke Smith, Harry Carter and Edward Wardell.

DETAILS of a plot to assassinate Nikolai Yezhov, treason trial following testimony of the "poison murder" of Maxim Gorky, famed Russian writer. Genrikh G. Yagoda, for-treason trial and admitted order-in office and trying unsuccessfully to poison Yezhov.

POLICE TO STAY OUT OF SEARCH FOR LOST YOUTH

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 10.—(UP)—Murray Levine received an extension of freedom from police interference today in his attempts to negotiate for the return of his 12-year-old son, Peter, kidnaped two weeks ago for $30,000 ransom.

The decision to extend the police hands-off policy was made at a conference of Director of Public Safety Philip S. Tilden with City Manager Irving C. Brower, Mayor
Harry Scott, Police Chief Frank L.
Birmingham and Detective Lieutenant George Reifenberger.

The conference was called after several Westchester county officials, the New Rochelle Parent-Teachers association and scores of residents had protested the inactivity.

All efforts to pay the ransom have failed thus far.

British Heckle Hitler's

Von Ribbentrop Expected To Seek Assistance From English In Germany's Move To Get Czech Aid

LONDON, March 10.—(UP)—Anti-Nazis shouted "down with Ribbentrop" today as Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, arrived at the foreign office for a conference with Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary.

It was an unhappy augury for the negotiations between Great Britain and Germany on European problems, for which this and other talks during Ribbentrop's visit are to be the basis.

A heavy police guard kept demonstrators away from Victoria station yesterday when Ribbentrop arrived. There was an unusually heavy guard today at the foreign office, in Downing street across from No. 10, the prime minister's official residence.

Approaches Guarded
Mounted and foot police guarded all approaches to the foreign office and the courtyard at its center.

Motor traffic was strictly controlled.

However, some 50 anti-Nazis managed to penetrate the police cordons. Ribbentrop's limousine drew up at the foreign office entrance, preceded—almost unprecedented thing in such circumstances—by a Scotland Yard detachment in motor cars.

As Ribbentrop, as usual smartly dressed, morning coated, silk hatted, stepped from his car, there

Base Of Income Levy May

Fee On Gallon Of Liquor
May Be Boosted

WASHINGTON, March 10—(UP)—House leaders proceed with the tax bill today, content to leave to the senate the work of finding additional revenue sources capable of yielding $62,000,000 to $67,000,- 000 annually.

The bill was believed that far short of the $5,330,000,000 annual income it is intended to give the government because the house eliminated its 20 percent surtax provision affecting closely held corporations.

The treasury studied new sources of revenue to maintain government income at its current level. Although treasury officials were reluctant to discuss any of the "replacement" taxes, it was understood that one of the alternatives would be to broaden the income tax base.

McCormack Act Surprises

Adoption of an amendment by Rep. John W. McCormack, D.
Mass., striking out the so-called "third basket" tax surprise leaders yesterday and they adjourning the house despite a previous agreement to stay in session until the tax bill had been enacted.
Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D.
N. C., hurriedly called a meeting of ways and means committee Democrats but after a two-hour session they parted without any plan beyond a decision to proceed with the bill.

The administration held a slight hope that the surtax could be put back into the bill on a roll call vote before passage, but opponents believed their margin of 180 votes to 124 would be maintained or increased.

Suggestions for amendments to replace the lost revenue discussed by congressmen and behind which support may develop during the day included:

BYRNES FAVORS ADMINISTRATOR FOR T. V. A. WORK

WASHINGTON, March 10—
(UP)—Sen. James F. Byrnes, D.
S. C., a loyal supporter of New Deal policies, advocated today the substitution of one administrator for the embattled three-man board of directors of the Tennessee Valley authority.

Byrnes' suggestion was discussed in influential congressional quarters while President Roosevelt prepared for a show-down tomorrow on the intra-directorate con-troverly and the house appropriations committee planned to call up for house debate a conference report on the independent offices bill which contains $2,763,000 in con-troverted T.V.A. items.

Sen. George W. Norris, I. Neb., author of the T.V.A. act said that he believed Byrnes' plan had many good features, but that his idea would be to name a board of three "executives—businessmen" who would, in his opinion, be more capable of administering such a project as T.V.A. than engineers, lawyers or other experts.

Senate Majority Leader Alben
W. Barkley, D. Ky., said that he had an "open mind" on the subject but that everything would be held in abeyance until after Friday's White House conference at which Mr. Roosevelt will ask T. V.
A. Chairman Arthur E. Morgan, and Directors David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt A. Morgan for the "facts" behind their family feud.

DEATHS OF TWO OHIOANS IN PLANE CRASH STUDIED

MANSFIELD, March 10.—(UP)—Department of Commerce inspectors were expected here today to investigate an airplane crash which killed Glen Gages, 28, licensed pilot and manager of a privately owned airport, and Theodore Crum, a friend.

Gages was killed instantly and Crum died in a hospital a half hour after the crash at dusk yesterday.

Witnesses said they were about to land on the Gages airport four miles west of here, when the plane went into a dive from approximately 1,000 feet.

Church Brotherhood Takes Lead In Campaign For Electricity

THREE SEE UTILITY MEN

Ohio Midland Co. Promises Survey Of Field

Preliminary steps to obtain electricity for rural residents in the southwestern portion of Pickaway county were taken Wednesday by a committee of the Mt. Pleasant church Brotherhood.

William D. Radcliff, mayor of Williamsport, E. C. Rector and H. W. Campbell went to Canal Winchester where they met officials of the Ohio Midland Light & Power Co.

Company officials informed them that a preliminary survey would be started next week to determine the cost of lines and the number of prospective customers in the territory wanting current. It has been roughly estimated there are 150 prospective consumers.

Large District Included

The territory in which the group is interested is the district south of Route 22 between Deer creek and Route 104.

Appointment of the committee to contact the power company was made at a meeting of the Brotherhood on Tuesday evening. The committee was named by Mr. Rector, president of the organization.

Other members of the committee, in addition to those who made the trip to Canal Winchester, are Edward Dowden, John D. Carter, Clarke Smith, Harry Carter and Edward Wardell.

British Heckle Hitler's Agent in London Visit

Von Ribbentrop Expected To Seek Assistance From English In Germany's Move To Get Czech Aid

LONDON, March 10.—(UP)—Anti-Nazis shouted "down with Ribbentrop" today as Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, arrived at the foreign office for a conference with Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary.

It was an unhappy augury for the negotiations between Great Britain and Germany on European problems, for which this and other talks during Ribbentrop's visit are to be the basis.

A heavy police guard kept demonstrators away from Victoria station yesterday when Ribbentrop arrived. There was an unusually heavy guard today at the foreign office, in Downing street across from No. 10, the prime minister's official residence.

Approaches Guarded

Mounted and foot police guarded all approaches to the foreign office and the courtyard at its center. Motor traffic was strictly controlled.

However, some 50 anti-Nazis managed to penetrate the police cordons. Ribbentrop's limousine drew up at the foreign office entrance, preceded—an almost unprecedented thing in such circumstances—by a Scotland Yard detachment in motor cars.

As Ribbentrop, as usual smartly dressed, morning coated, silk hat, stepped from his car, there

Plotted Against

DETAILS of a plot to assassinate Nikolai Yezhov, above, present chief of the NKVD—the Soviet secret police—were given at the Moscow treason trial following testimony of the "poison murder" of Maxim Gorky, famed Russian writer. Genrikh G. Yagoda, former secret police chief who "wanted to become a Russian Hitler," pleaded full guilt in the treason trial and admitted ordering the death of his predecessor in office and trying unsuccessfully to poison Yezhov.

POLICE TO STAY OUT OF SEARCH FOR LOST YOUTH

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 10.—(UP)—Murray Levine received an extension of freedom from police interference today in his attempts to negotiate for the return of his 12-year-old son, Peter, kidnapped two weeks ago for $30,000 ransom.

The decision to extend the police hands-off policy was made at a conference of Director of Public Safety Philip S. Tilden with City Manager Irving C. Brower, Mayor Harry Scott, Police Chief Frank L. Birmingham and Detective Lieutenant George Reifenberger.

The conference was called after several Westchester county officials, the New Rochelle Parent-Teachers association and scores of residents had protested the inactivity.

All efforts to pay the ransom have failed thus far.

SURPRISE HOUSE BALLOT STRIKES OUT REVENUES

Base Of Income Levy May Be Broadened To Provide Additional Money

ALTERNATIVES LISTED

Fee On Gallon Of Liquor May Be Boosted

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(UP)—House leaders proceed with the tax bill today, content to leave to the senate the work of finding additional revenue sources capable of yielding $62,000,000 to $67,000,000 annually.

The bill was believed that far short of the $5,330,000,000 annual income it is intended to give the government because the house eliminated its 20 percent surtax provision affecting closely held corporations.

The treasury studied new sources of revenue to maintain government income at its current level. Although treasury officials were reluctant to discuss any of the "replacement" taxes, it was understood that one of the alternatives would be to broaden the income tax base.

McCormack Act Surprises

Adoption of an amendment by Rep. John W. McCormack, D. Mass., striking out the so-called "third basket" tax surprised leaders yesterday and they adjourned the house despite a previous agreement to stay in session until the tax bill had been enacted. Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D. N. C., hurriedly called a meeting of ways and means committee Democrats but after a two-hour session they parted without any plan beyond a decision to proceed with the bill.

The administration held a slight hope that the surtax could be put back into the bill on a roll call vote before passage, but opponents believed their margin of 180 votes to 124 would be maintained or increased.

Suggestions for amendments to replace the lost revenue discussed by congressmen and behind which support may develop during the day included:

BYRNES FAVORS ADMINISTRATOR FOR T. V. A. WORK

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(UP)—Sen. James F. Byrnes, D. S. C., a loyal supporter of New Deal policies, advocated today the substitution of one administrator for the embattled three-man board of directors of the Tennessee Valley authority.

Byrnes' suggestion was discussed in influential congressional quarters while President Roosevelt prepared for a show-down tomorrow on the intra-directorate controversy and the house appropriations committee planned to call up for house debate a conference report on the independent offices bill which contains $2,763,000 in contravened T.V.A. items.

Sen. George W. Norris, I. Neb., author of the T.V.A. act said that he believed Byrnes' plan had many good features, but that his idea would be to name a board of three "executives—businessmen" who would, in his opinion, be more capable of administering such a project as T.V.A., than engineers, lawyers or other experts.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D. Ky., said that he had an "open mind" on the subject but that everything would be held in abeyance until after Friday's White House conference at which Mr. Roosevelt will ask T. V. A. Chairman Arthur E. Morgan, and Directors David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt A. Morgan for the "facts" behind their family feud.

SIX COURT SUITS FOLLOW INQUIRY BY OHIO SENATE

Future Of Government Practices May Be Determined

SPARKS FILES APPEAL

Bradley Charges Pending In Court

COLUMBUS, March 10.—(UP)—A backward glance over the rough course of the senate graft investigation showed today that it has been the direct cause of six separate Ohio court actions, some of which may bring court decisions with an important influence on future government practices.

Of the six suits only two have been settled, and one of these was never pressed to a final decision after an initial victory for the senate investigating committee. These two cases were legal bouts between Governor Davey or his representatives and the committee, but since adjournment of the general assembly other actions have been started.

Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, Columbus attorney, has filed two taxpayers' suits. In one she challenged the validity of an attorney general's ruling that legislative committees lose power simultaneously with sine die adjournment of the legislature. In so doing she struck a belated blow in favor of continuing the graft investigation.

Transport Firm Hit

Her most recent suit asked the Franklin county Common Pleas court to order Shaw Transport, Inc., to return approximately $350,000 which it allegedly made from a contract with the liquor department for hauling state liquor, and which it later sublet. The petition also asked cancellation of the contract.

Mrs. Dickinson charged the company with taking a "rakeoff" of five and one-half cents a case and alleged conspiracy to defraud. The company stockholders, including John Nolan, Steubenville, Democratic leader, and Liquor Director James W. Miller were named defendants.

Although this test is perhaps of most immediate interest, officials also are keenly interested in the question of a legislative committee's right to function continuously for a biennium, and the decision may have a far reaching effect on the power of the legislature.

Mrs. Dickinson also has attacked the legislature for abuse of power, having been associated in the "mileage grab" case, which is still pending here, and which sought to prevent representatives from collecting mileage fees for trips they never made.

Sparks In Court

As another outgrowth of disclosures by the senate committee, Harry A. Sparks, state highway department engineer, who said exorbitant prices were paid for road materials, brought a test case to prevent the highway director on Governor Davey's order from abolishing his job. The abolition was ordered as the only way to dismiss Sparks, a civil service employee, without opening the way for his appeal to the state civil service commission. This suit may bring a definite ruling on the practice of abolishing civil service positions instead of dismissing employees and allowing them the right of appeal.

The first litigation in the series of suits was brought by State Purchasing Agent Glenn Horn on an application for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent his arrest on a charge of contempt of the senate. The upshot was that by his decision Judge John R. King of the Franklin county Common Pleas court settled the committee on a firm legal basis and laid doubts as to its authority to operate.

The Davey forces lost another round when the committee blocked an attempt to arrest Lee Bradley, Cleveland, on a perjury charge before he completed his testimony. The case was never conclusively decided because the committee turned Bradley over to police after his testimony was complete, having first secured a temporary habeas corpus writ.

The perjury suit charging that Bradley testified falsely when he said he represented the governor in alleged, attempted "deals" with automobile and utility companies is pending in the Cleveland municipal court, and is based on a warrant sworn to by the governor. This case produced its own offshoot when an affidavit of bias and prejudice was sustained against Judge Stanton Addams, of East Cleveland, and caused a shift to the Cleveland municipal bench.

Accidents Recalled

In naming some of the railroad accidents which have occurred here at Main street crossing before the wigwag signals were installed, James Carley recalled one which had escaped our memory. It was sixteen years ago. A freight train was approaching the above mentioned crossing, moving south, when a Buick auto with four persons in it approached the tracks from the West in just the right time to be struck by the engine, the auto being pushed near 100 feet landing on a pile of loose tile in the South elevator yards. No one was seriously injured and they were taken on to their homes in Lancaster the same evening. This was the same accident referred to a few weeks ago by freight conductor Wintz.

Another Snow

And here we are again today with another rabbit-tracker snow and if we remember correctly the "sure-sign" boys at headquarters will be forced to number this one as the 17th, three more than the quota. But snow is good for the wheat and the "farm boys" who are members of the court say that these extra snows are caused by, and a part of, the new farm bill.

Radio Highlight

MISCHA AUER . . . BING'S GUEST
"Music Hall"—NBC-Red, 10 p. m. EST.

"Hollywood's funniest comic" is the title given Auer. Of Russian parentage, he showed an early interest in the stage, and soon became well known in the theatre world of New York. Long cast in sinister roles in the movies, his sensational performance in "My Man Godfrey" rocketed him into comedy and stardom almost overnight.

ARNOLD AND WRAY

Edward Arnold and Fay Wray play the leading roles in "The Boss" to be produced by Cecil B. DeMille in the Radio Theatre on Monday, March 14. This is the play by Edward Sheldon which was the first to present dramatically the sinister place of racketeering in the modern scene.
"The Boss," with the title role of Shindy Mike Regan played by Edward Arnold, will be broadcast over the Columbia network at 9 p. m. (EST). "The Boss" was the first of the racket "big shots" to make his appearance on stage or screen.

DE HAVILLAND VISITS

Fresh from making an adventurous picture called "Gold Is Where

You Find It," Olivia De Havilland makes an adventurous appearance on the air on Sunday, March 13. Uppermost in her mind is an introduction to one Charles McCarthy, who thinks there's gold in the "Goldwyn Follies," the picture he has just finished.

Don Ameche, Edgar Bergen, John Carter, the Stroud Twins, Dorothy Lamour and Robert Armstrong's orchestra are the regular members of the "family" who will also be present for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m. (EST).

Miss De Havilland and Don Ameche will be heard in a one act play as the dramatic feature of the full hour show.

John Carter, the new tenor discovery, Dorothy Lamour and Don Ameche make up the singing contingent. Carter's singing on the program in the last six weeks has already lifted him to the top flight of radio's singing stars.

GUY PETTIT EXPANDS HIS TIME PAY DEPARTMENT

Guy C. Pettit, owner of the Pettit Tire and Battery Co., announced Thursday that he is expanding the budget and time pay department of his store and has employed Manley Carothers, specially-trained under the supervision of expert tire men in Akron, as an assistant.

Mr. Carothers will specialize in Goodyear tires and batteries, having received his training in the Goodyear plant.

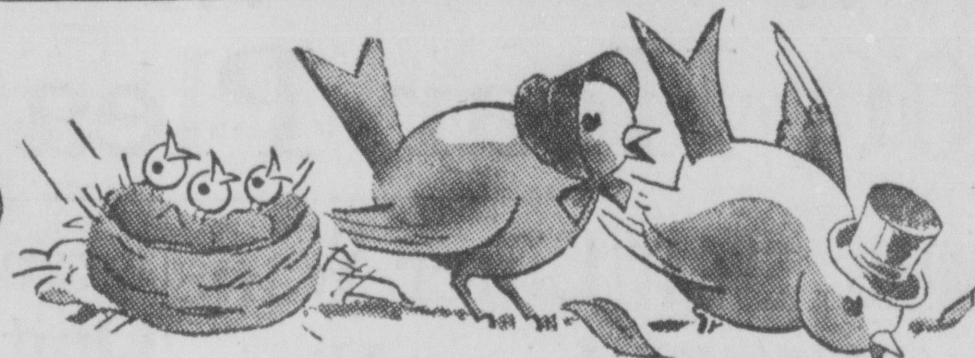

Mr. Pettit's move is designed to give Circleville and Pickaway county residents an opportunity to purchase Goodyear products with a small down payment and the balance in small monthly payments.

African Pupils Backward
CAPE TOWN (UP)—A six-day week for South African schoolboys is advocated by the Rev. C. C. Tugman, headmaster of St. George's Cathedral Grammar School here. "The gap from Friday afternoon to Monday morning is too long for the South African boy," he said.

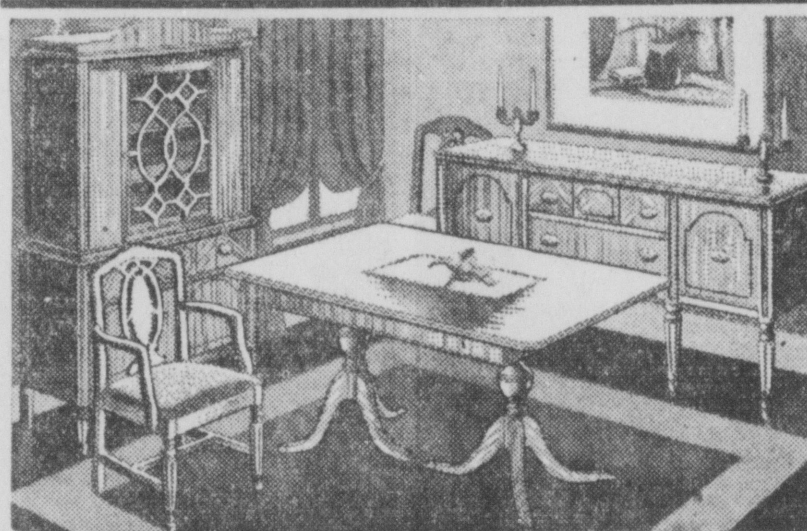

Our navy, in its annual maneuvers, will cover 12,000,000 square miles of the Pacific. And write Uncle Sam's name on it?

NAVY EXPLORES PLANS FOR NEW DIRIGIBLE TYPE

California Technicians Authorized To Draw Specifications

CONFERENCES FRUITFUL

Action Of Big Carriers In Wind Studied

PASADENA, Cal., March 10—(UP)—Plans for lighter-than-air airships, capable of launching planes from the sky, are to be prepared for the U. S. Navy by Dr. Theodor von Karman, of the California Institute of Technology, and his assistants.

Instructions from the Navy Department to prepare plans, not only for this type dirigible but others as well, have come following a long series of conferences between Western technicians and the navy officials in the East.

So confident are naval authorities that Congress will authorize construction of lighter-than-air craft, that they felt justified in ordering the preparations of plans.

Basic Program Outlined

Dr. von Karman will have as his principal associate in the preparation of plans Dr. William F. Durand of Stanford University. During recent conferences held in the East, a number of lines were laid down for the preparations of the plans which the two men will follow.

They have been instructed specially to make calculations designed to avoid structural breakdown.

While Dr. von Karman was in the East, he attended meetings of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, presided over by Dr. Clark Millikan, the retiring president, also of the California Institute of Technology.

Later, at conferences with the Department of Commerce in Washington, the question of airworthiness regulations was weighed carefully. Still later, at the request of the navy, Dr. von Karman went to Langley Field for still further conferences with those who have had the most experience with the navy dirigibles in the past.

Plans to Be Studied in April

The new airship specifications that Dr. von Karman has been asked to prepare will be presented to a general aeronautical conference in April.

Investigations at the Guggenheim Airship Laboratory at Akron for the navy have developed such important results in connection with the question of airships in gusts of wind that Dr. von Karman recommended the navy continue with the research.

U. S. MAY GET $650,000 FROM BIRD HUNTERS

WASHINGTON (UP)—More than 600,000 sportsmen paid $1 each last year for Federal migratory-bird hunting stamps, the U. S. Biological Survey reported.

Not included was former Supreme Court Justice Willis Van Devanter, who was taken into custody by a state game warden while hunting without a license. The charges were not pressed.

The sale of 603,623 stamps last year—the third in an annual series—exceeded those of the previous year by 150,000, and almost equaled the record sale of 635,001 set by the first stamp.

The sale of stamps for this year, which began July 1, is expected to approximate 650,000, officials said. The stamps are on sale at every postoffice in the country.

Proceeds amounting to not less than 90 per cent of the sales, as provided by law, are turned over to the survey for establishing, maintaining and administering migratory bird refuges.

Leading states last year in the sale of stamps were Minnesota, 72,460; Illinois, 53,251; Wisconsin, 48,999, and California, 44,570.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

The audience of the Cliftona Theatre will be kept in constant suspense Friday and Saturday as a strange murder riddle unfolds in Columbia's "Who Killed Gail Preston?" with Don Terry, Rita Hayworth and Wyn Cahoon.

In a big town night spot, the Swing Club, where the architectural and decorative motif is that of a prison, with barred cells for guests and convict garb for its band and entertainers, a torch singer, Rita Hayworth, is slain. She is killed by a bullet seemingly from nowhere.

This is a challenge to the famed sleuthing powers of Don Terry, police inspector. Terry immediately finds that a score of persons among the show troupes, and even the audience might have had good reason to slay the singer. Of the many suspects, Terry is finally forced to release all but Paige, the band leader. He claps the band leader in jail on a murder charge. Terry continues to investigate the case with the aid of Wyn Cahoon, who is married to Paige.

Movie makers are the modern magicians. They don't pull rabbits out of hats, but they create cotton fields overnight.

For Warner Bros. "White Bondage," a Southern melodrama starring Jean Muir, Director Nick Grinde asked for a three-acre cotton field. He wanted it on the Warner ranch at Calabasas where no cotton has ever grown.

Almost overnight the field appeared. Truckloads of cotton plants covered with white bolls, were brought down from the cotton district near Bakersfield and planted.

"White Bondage" will come to the Grand Theatre on Thursday.

CONGRESS SEES SESSION'S END ABOUT JUNE 1

President Agrees No New Legislation Will Be Requested

WAGE-HOUR BILL UP

Flood Control Measure To Be Prepared

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(UP)—Congressional leaders today predicted adjournment of this session by June 1 on the basis of an informal understanding that President Roosevelt would not propose further legislation. A more conservative forecast was that congress would adjourn sometime during the first fortnight of June. That would leave 12 to 14 weeks for remaining legislative business. Adjournment by mid-June probably would permit time to dispose of wage and hours legislation if the house leadership can agree on a moderate bill acceptable to southern Democrats.

Belief that Mr. Roosevelt would not propose further legislation to congress at this session is founded not only on his recently adopted "hands off" policy but on statements made by the President to individual legislators. Even so, it is likely that a flood control bill will be offered in congress with White House approval some time this month.

Bills on Way

All regular appropriation bills except those for the war and agriculture departments and the legislative establishments already are in process of enactment. A relief bill, aggregating slightly more than $1,000,000,000 for the next fiscal year, still must be passed by this session.

Some opponents of Mr. Roosevelt's plan for reorganization of executive departments are willing to concede now that it will be enacted in the modified form now pending in the senate. The final vote may be reached there next week. The administration also is anxious for action on amendments to the merchant marine act designed to encourage expansion of American shipping by liberal federal subsidies.

The fate of Mr. Roosevelt's regional planning program for better use of land and water resources is uncertain although it was among the legislation he requested last Autumn's do-nothing special session. The emergency naval construction bill will arouse a gale of house and senate debate but leaders are confident it will be enacted substantially in the form proposed by the President.

GRADE METHOD WINS SUPPORT IN HOG SALES

AMES, Ia. (UP)—The new "carcass weight and grade" method of marketing hogs is of distinct value to the producer of high quality animals, according to G. S. Shepherd, Iowa State College agricultural economist who is making a study of the system.

He reported that Canadian farmers marketed 25 per cent of their hogs under this method in 1937, an increase of 12 per cent over 1936.

Under the new method, hogs are sold by the farmer much as eggs are sold. They are butchered and graded, the farmer receiving the purchase price based on the grade and quality of the slaughtered product.

"The identity of the carcass is traced through the packing plant by means of a tattoo applied on the shoulder of the live hog when it is sold," Shepherd explained.

"Carcasses that grade No. 1 bring $1 more per head than No. 2 carcasses. No. 3 carcasses bring about $1 less.

Variety in Serving Meats

We can actually plan meals for three or four months and never serve the same dish twice, by making use of all the different cuts of beef, veal, pork and lamb, with sausage and ready to serve meats included.

Here are some recipes to add variety to your meal planning:

Cushion Style Shoulder Pork Roast

- Square cut picnic pork shoulder
- 2 slices salt pork, diced
- 3 tart apples, diced
- 1/4 C. sugar
- 1/4 C. chopped celery
- 1/4 C. chopped onion
- 1 C. bread crumbs
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 C. brown sugar
- 1 tsp. mustard
- Whole cloves

Have bones removed from pork shoulder, and sewed on 3 sides, leaving fourth side open for dressing. Fry the salt pork until crisp. Cook celery and onion in fat until tender. Add the apples, sprinkle with sugar and cook slowly until the apples are tender. Add the bread crumbs, then season. Fill the cavity in the pork shoulder and sew or skewer the edges together. Place on a rack in an open roasting pan and roast in a slow oven (300 to 350 degrees) until done. Allow 35 to 40 minutes to the pound. Ten or fifteen minutes before the roast is done, remove it from the oven, rub with brown sugar and mustard and decorate with white cloves. Return to the oven and finish browning.

Lamb Chop Grill

- 4 loin or rib chops
- 12 link sausages
- 6 potatoes
- 2 Tbsp. butter
- 3 tomatoes
- 2 Tbsp. grated cheese
- 6 peach halves
- Whole cloves
- Salt and pepper

Have loin or rib chops cut thick, at least one-inch. Preheat broiling oven. Place chops on broiler rack far enough from source of heat that by the time they are browned, they will be half done. Broil on one side, season with salt and pepper and turn. Place on rack with chops, little link sausages, buttered potatoes which have been cooked in boiling salted water, tomato halves sprinkled with grated cheese and peach halves which have been stuck with whole cloves. Broil until meats are done and until other foods are heated through and browned. Lamb chops cut 1 inch thick require approximately 15 minutes for broiling.

Paprika of Veal

- 2 lbs. breast or shank of veal
- 2 Tbsp. fat
- 1 large onion, cut fine
- 1 Tbsp. paprika
- 1/2 C. sour cream
- 1 Tbsp. flour

Have veal breast or shank boned and cut into 1-inch cubes. Brown onion in hot fat until it becomes slightly yellowed. Add veal cubes, and let brown. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add paprika and enough hot water to cover. Cook slowly for one hour, then add sour cream and thicken the liquid with flour smoothed in cold water. This is attractively served in a rice ring.

Want to Know Why You're Constipated?

Would you give a million to shake off that dull, dopey, played-out feeling that often comes with common constipation? Then stop a minute and think. What have you had to eat this week? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? Probably the reason you're constipated is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines which helps a bowel movement. What to do? Eat some Kellogg's All-Brans for breakfast every day. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains both the intestinal tonic vitamin B, and iron. Eat All-Brans every day and drink plenty of water. See if you don't get off your heels and on your toes! Kellogg's All-Brans is sold by every grocer.

OBSCURE TOWN BECOMING NEW GREYNA GREEN

BOSSIER CITY, La. (UP)—June is the busiest month and Saturday the busiest day for Justice of the Peace W. B. Sapp, who has escaped the title of "Marryin' Justice" even though he performed 5,000 such ceremonies in six years. Saturday is "pay day," and June is—well, June.

Judge Sapp, his friends believe, set an all-time Southern record when he officiated at 1,400 weddings last year.

"People just seem to like him," Mrs. Grace Thomas, his daughter and secretary, said. She said "people come from all over North Louisiana, Western Texas and South Arkansas just to be married here."

Of his 5,000 marriage couples since 1931, Judge Sapp remembered best the "half-divorced" Negro groom.

"I signed three papers, boss," the Negro explained. "De woman took one, I took one, and de man what married us took one to send to de parish."

"I got his'n away from him," he continued, "and I got mine. I'm half divorced, and if I can jest git her'n I won't be married no more."

CONGRESS SEES SESSION'S END ABOUT JUNE 1

President Agrees No New Legislation Will Be Requested

WAGE-HOUR BILL UP Flood Control Measure To Be Prepared

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(UP)—Congressional leaders today predicted adjournment of this session by June 1 on the basis of an informal understanding that President Roosevelt would not propose further legislation. A more conservative forecast was that congress would adjourn sometime during the first fortnight of June. That would leave 12 to 14 weeks for remaining legislative business. Adjournment by mid-June probably would permit time to dispose of wage and hours legislation if the house leadership can agree on a moderate bill acceptable to southern Democrats. Belief that Mr. Roosevelt would not propose further legislation to congress at this session is founded not only on his recently adopted "hands off" policy but on statements made by the President to individual legislators. Even so, it is likely that a flood control bill will be offered in congress with White House approval some time this month.

Bills on Way
All regular appropriation bills except those for the war and agriculture departments and the legislative establishments already are in process of enactment. A relief bill, aggregating slightly more than $1,000,000,000 for the next fiscal year, still must be passed by this session.

Some opponents of Mr. Roosevelt's plan for reorganization of executive departments are willing to concede now that it will be enacted in the modified form now pending in the senate. The final vote may be reached there next week. The administration also is anxious for action on amendments to the merchant marine act designed to encourage expansion of American shipping by liberal federal subsidies.

The fate of Mr. Roosevelt's regional planning program for better use of land and water resources is uncertain although it was among the legislation he requested last Autumn's do-nothing special session. The emergency naval construction bill will arouse a gale of house and senate debate but leaders are confident it will be enacted substantially in the form proposed by the President.

GRADE METHOD WINS SUPPORT IN HOG SALES

AMES, Ia. (UP)—The new "carcass weight and grade" method of marketing hogs is of distinct value to the producer of high quality animals, according to G. S. Shepherd, Iowa State College agricultural economist who is making a study of the system.

He reported that Canadian farmers marketed 25 per cent of their hogs under this method in 1937, an increase of 12 per cent over 1936.

Under the new method, hogs are sold by the farmer much as eggs are sold. They are butchered and graded, the farmer receiving the purchase price based on the grade and quality of the slaughtered product.

"The identity of the carcass is traced through the packing plant by means of a tattoo applied on the shoulder of the live hog when it is sold," Shepherd explained.

"Carcasses that grade No. 1 bring $1 more per head than No. 2 carcasses. No. 3 carcasses bring about $1 less.

TEMPTING MENUS

Variety in Serving Meats

We can actually plan meals for three or four months and never serve the same dish twice, by making use of the different cuts of beef, veal, pork and lamb, with sausage and ready to serve meats included.

Here are some recipes to add variety to your meal planning:

Cushion Style Shoulder Pork Roast

- Square cut picnic pork shoulder
- 2 slices salt pork, diced
- 3 tart apples, diced
- 1/4 C. sugar
- 1/4 C. chopped celery
- 1/4 C. chopped onion
- 1 C. bread crumbs
- Salt and pepper
- 1/4 C. brown sugar
- 1 tsp. mustard
- Whole cloves

Have bones removed from pork shoulder, and sewed on 3 sides, leaving fourth side open for dressing. Fry the salt pork until crisp. Cook celery and onion in fat until tender. Add the apples, sprinkle with sugar and cook slowly until the apples are tender. Add the bread crumbs, then season. Fill the cavity in the pork shoulder and sew or skewer the edges together. Place on a rack in an open roasting pan and roast in a slow oven (300 to 350 degrees) until done. Allow 35 to 40 minutes to the pound. Ten or fifteen minutes before the roast is done, remove it from the oven, rub with brown sugar and mustard and decorate with white cloves. Return to the oven and finish browning.

Lamb Chop Grill

- 6 loin or rib chops
- 12 link sausages
- 6 potatoes
- 2 Tbsp. butter
- 3 tomatoes
- 2 Tbsp. grated cheese
- 6 peach halves
- Whole cloves
- Salt and pepper

Have loin or rib chops cut thick, at least one-inch. Preheat broiling oven. Place chops on broiler rack far enough from source of heat that by the time they are browned, they will be half done. Broil on one side, season with salt and pepper and turn. Place on rack with chops, little link sausages, buttered potatoes which have been cooked in boiling salted water, tomato halves sprinkled with grated cheese and peach halves which have been stuck with whole cloves. Broil until meats are done and until other foods are heated through and browned. Lamb chops cut 1 inch thick require approximately 15 minutes for broiling.

- Paprika of Veal
- 2 lbs. breast or shank of veal
- 2 Tbsp. fat
- 1 large onion, cut fine
- 1 Tbsp. paprika
- 1/2 C. sour cream
- 1 Tbsp. flour

Have veal breast or shank boned and cut into 1-inch cubes. Brown onion in hot fat until it becomes slightly yellowed. Add veal cubes, and let brown. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add paprika and enough hot water to cover. Cook slowly for one hour, then add sour cream and thicken the liquid with flour smoothed in cold water. This is attractively served in a rice ring.

Want to Know Why You're Constipated?

Would you give a million to shake off that dull, dopey, played-out feeling that often comes with common constipation? Then stop a minute and think. What have you had to eat this week? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? Probably the reason you're constipated is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines which helps a bowel movement. What to do? Eat some Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains both the intestinal tonic vitamin B₁ and iron. Eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. See if you don't get off your heels and on your toes! Kellogg's All-Bran is sold by every grocer.

OBSURE TOWN BECOMING NEW GRETN GREEN

BOSSIER CITY, La. (UP)—June is the busiest month and Saturday the busiest day for Justice of the Peace W. B. Sapp, who has escaped the title of "Marryin' Justice" even though he performed 5,000 such ceremonies in six years. Saturday is "pay day," and June is—well, June.

Judge Sapp, his friends believe, set an all-time Southern record when he officiated at 1,400 weddings last year.

"People just seem to like him," Mrs. Grace Thomas, his daughter and secretary, said. She said "people come from all over North Louisiana, Western Texas and South Arkansas just to be married here."

Of his 5,000 marriage couples since 1931, Judge Sapp remembered best the "half-divorced" Negro groom.

"I signed three papers, boss," the Negro explained. "De woman took one, I took one, and de man what married us took one to send to de parish."

"I got his'n away from him," he continued, "and I got mine. I'm half divorced, and if I can jest git her'n I won't be married no more."

UTILITY LOSES RATE CONTEST WITH NORWALK

City Gas Rate Ordinance, Voted By Councilmen, Receives Support

COMMISSION OVERRULED

Company's Appeal Must Be Heard, Judges Say

COLUMBUS, March 10.—(UP)—Ohio communities today found increased authority for regulation of public utility rates in the Ohio supreme court's decision reversing an order by the State Public Utilities commission.

The court held yesterday that the commission had overstepped its authority in declaring invalid a Norwalk gas rate ordinance.

The commission had ruled that the Norwalk council was without authority to enact a rate ordinance after the Ohio Fuel Gas company had filed an application for increased rates with the commission in absence of any other rate schedule.

The high court's reversal of the commission's decision was regarded by municipal officials as another step in defining the rate-making authority of cities and the commission.

The decision will require the utilities commission to hear the gas company's appeal from the Norwalk ordinance rates. The company, meanwhile, can continue to collect the former rates under bond to refund excess charges to consumers if a lower rate is fixed later.

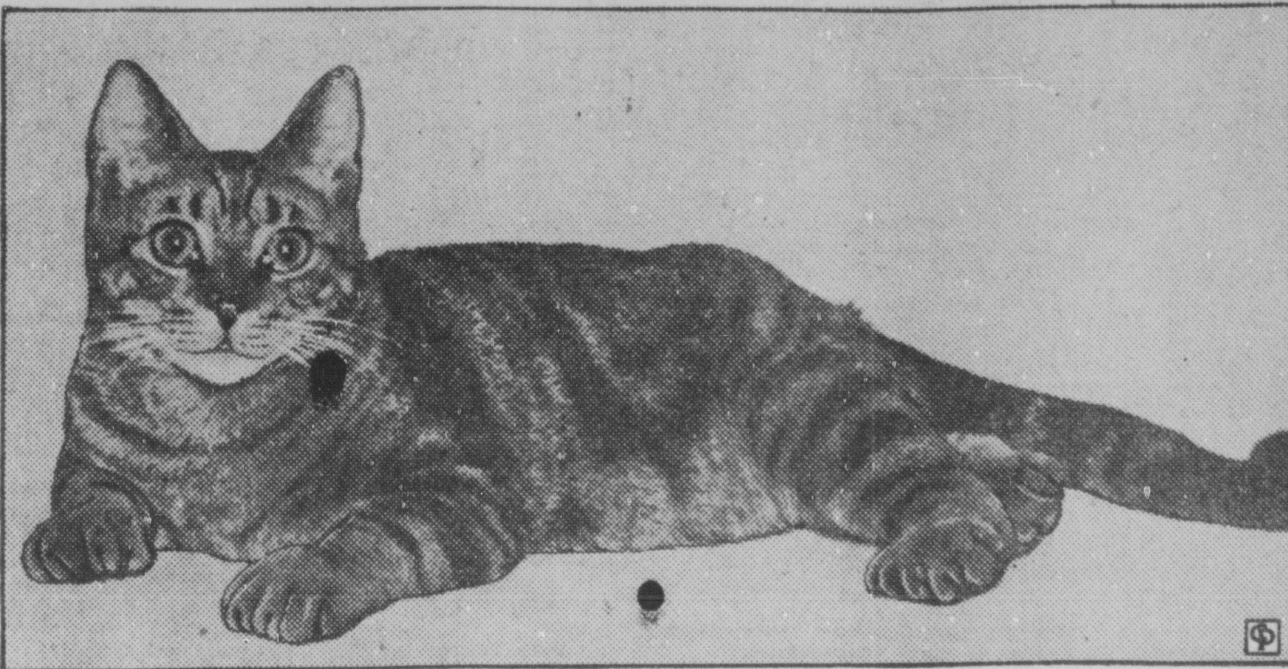

Down-Easters Still Hardy

EASTPORT, Me. (UP)—Down-Easters are traditional a hardy race, but few are greater exponents of rugged individualism than James Phillips. The other day he rowed a dinghy from Black's Harbor to Eastport, 16 miles. Next birthday Phillips will be 103.

House-Raising Endures

GREENLAND, N. H. (UP)—Harry Hanson is thankful that the old New England custom of house-raising still exists. Neighbors helped him build a new home in five weeks after a fire had destroyed the original structure.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Keaton have moved to the Mrs. Rena Riggan farm, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lamb and family have moved from the Albert Tarbill farm to a Scioto Farm Project unit on the former C. G. Campbell farm, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gearhardt, daughters, Carolyn and Helen moved Monday to the Ford farm near Milledgeville.

Two tables of contract bridge were in play, Saturday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schiering were host and hostess to their bridge club. Mrs. Wendell Evans was high score, when tallies were added. Mrs. Schiering served a salad course to the following, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lozier, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Evans.

RAILROADS JUNK MANY BRANCHES TO SAVE MONEY

WASHINGTON (UP)—Truck competition and closing of mines or factories are forcing abandonment of hundreds of miles of railroad, Interstate Commerce Commission records reveal.

The I. C. C. in the last few months has authorized abandonment of between 100 and 200 miles of tracks.

In virtually every instance, the railroads reported operating deficits over a period of several years with no prospects of regaining traffic.

Some 404 members of the National Trucking Association recently estimated before the I. C. C. that their revenues approximated $102,000,000 a year. This, it was pointed out, would not represent more than a sizable percentage of the total truck income, since probably hundreds of trucks and minor lines are not members of the association.

The I. C. C. within the last year, granted authority for abandonment of 1,030 miles of road, it reported to Congress. The average annual losses from continued operation were estimated at $627,647—an amount that will be transferred over into the "savings" column with the roads out of operation.

Many of the lines abandoned were in bad condition, needing extensive repairs which would involve considerable outlays of money, without prospects of future traffic to justify the expenditure.

FORT OF 3 FLAGS TO BE RESTORED

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—An old fort built to protect New Orleans from an invasion that never came, will be rebuilt—to protect the city's legends, history and beauty.

Called Spanish Fort because all that is known of its history is that Spaniards constructed it, the crumbling, weed-covered structure now guards only trim sailboats and chugging tugs on peaceful Lake Ponchartrain.

The property, after many years of negotiations, has become a city park. The park board appointed a committee, headed by A. G. Mor-fat, to restore the fort as it was about 1810.

"We are in the midst of research," Moffat said. "We are studying old maps, plans and accounts in order to determine as nearly as possible how the fort looked when it was constructed in brick."

Spanish Fort, built by the French, rebuilt by the Spanish and strengthened by the United States, came into the hands of the United States officially in 1803. According to historical data collected, the present ruins are those of the rebuilt structure of 1808.

Though never the site of a military engagement, according to historical records, the fort was garrisoned on several occasions during conflicts about the city. Gen. Andrew Jackson landed there when he came to New Orleans during the War of 1812.

UTILITY LOSES RATE CONTEST WITH NORWALK

City Gas Rate Ordinance, Voted By Councilmen, Receives Support

COMMISSION OVERRULED

Company's Appeal Must Be Heard, Judges Say

COLUMBUS, March 10—(UP)—Ohio communities today found increased authority for regulation of public utility rates in the Ohio supreme court's decision reversing an order by the State Public Utilities commission.

The court held yesterday that the commission had overstepped its authority in declaring invalid a Norwalk gas rate ordinance.

The commission had ruled that the Norwalk council was without authority to enact a rate ordinance after the Ohio Fuel Gas company had filed an application for increased rates with the commission in absence of any other rate schedule.

The high court's reversal of the commission's decision was regarded by municipal officials as another step in defining the rate-making authority of cities and the commission.

The decision will require the utilities commission to hear the gas company's appeal from the Norwalk ordinance rates. The company, meanwhile, can continue to collect the former rates under bond to refund excess charges to consumers if a lower rate is fixed later.

VIRGINIA VOTES SAFETY WALKS FOR HIGHWAYS

State In Forefront With Project To Protect Pedestrians

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL

All Counties Share Cost Of Construction

RICHMOND, Va., March 10—(UP)—Sidewalks for congested cross-country highways are Virginia's answer to the rapidly mounting toll of pedestrian deaths on the open road.

Gov. James H. Price has signed, following unanimous passage by both houses of the general assembly, a bill authorizing the state highway commission to construct the walkways and sidewalks along state highways in an attempt to lessen fatalities to pedestrians, which have totaled more than 550 in the past three years.

The walkways, which will be similar to city sidewalks along paved streets, will protect pedestrians by keeping them off the highways proper and out of the range of speeding automobiles.

Counties to Share Cost
They will be built only at request of county boards of commissioners, and each county must bear half the cost of construction within its borders. Henry G. Shirley, state highway commissioner, estimated the walkways would cost "between $7,000 and $8,000 a mile" to build and would be "well worth it" in saving of lives and injuries.

"They are a safety measure, pure and simple," he said. Shirley added, however, that the highway sidewalks, built attractively along the major highways of the state, would "greatly enhance" the beauty of the roads, thus offering an added inducement to counties to apply for them.

Program Meets With Favor
Shirley expressed satisfaction over the program and said it was the intention of his department to give all possible co-operation in carrying it out.

He said he expected most of the counties in the state with thickly populated rural industrial areas to apply for the highway-sidewalks. Virginia, it is believed, is one of the first states to undertake a constructive program of this nature in an effort to reduce a spe-

WILLIAMSPORT

About one hundred young people from Pickaway and Ross counties attended the Midyear Epworth League Institute at Williamsport, Saturday. Five courses were offered at the Williamsport Methodist church, during the sessions which began at 9 a. m. and ended at 9 p. m. Rev. A. J. Kestle of Chillicothe conducted the course, "Reading With a Purpose." Other classes were "Missions," "Life of Christ," "Drama," and "Church Music." Music during the day was directed by Naomi Rawn of Brice, president of the district league. During the noon recess and following the afternoon session, there was organized play. A candle-light communion service at which Rev. A. V. Ritts of Pickerington, dean of the Institute, and Rev. D. H. Householder officiated, concluded the evening program. The district superintendent, Dr. J. Ira Jones, presided at the institute. The lunch at noon and the banquet in the evening were served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Williamsport M. E. Church. The next Epworth League meeting of this kind will take place in the summer.

cific cause of highway fatalities. A related bill introduced in the assembly provided rigid speed limits on state highways and it was believed that the combination of the two measures undoubtedly would result in a noticeable decrease in highway deaths in the state.

SUPREME COURT BACKS AUDITOR IN FUND ACTION

Counties Must Be Free Of Debt To State Before Receiving Taxes

MANDAMUS TURNED DOWN

Montgomery County Stands Lose $760,165

COLUMBUS, March 10—(UP)—The Ohio supreme court today had upheld indirectly the authority of the state to withhold state allocations from counties delinquent in their payments to private hospitals caring for insane patients.

The high court denied a mandamus writ sought by Montgomery county to compel State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to release sales tax funds to the county not withstanding the county's debt to hospitals.

In a second decision the court ruled that Ferguson must remit sales tax revenues to Cleveland hospitals seeking payment of bills against Cuyahoga county. The court specifically granted a writ to Prospect hospital and others compelling the state to deduct from the county's allocation the sums owing the hospitals.

Legal authorities pointed out the decisions indirectly sustain constitutionality of the Davis act which permits the state to withhold funds from counties not paying their share for care of insane wards in private hospitals.

Montgomery county sought to compel state payment of $760,165, full amount of sales tax revenues due the county.

SAILORS' BABEL IN POLICE CASE UPSETS COURT

MONTREAL—(UP)—The police courts of this seaport metropolis have their headaches whenever the polyglot humanity that swarms the city docks get into trouble.

When the crew of the freighter City of Delhi was haled into court here recently on a charge of "refusing to obey lawful commands on board ship," French-Canadian Judge Marin, who speaks French and English fluently, was faced with 11 Malay, Mohammedan and Hindu sailors, all jabbering in their native tongues.

To complicate affairs, the cosmopolitan group was completed by an Irish court clerk, a French-Canadian court stenographer and a Syrian interpreter, who fortunately understood Arabic, French and English.

The stenographer was on the verge of tears when the judge was asking a question in French of the interpreter, who was trying to express him self in Arabic. A sailor chimed in with a voluble mixture of Malayan, Arabic and pidgin English.

After an hour of pandemonium it was discovered that the crew objected to foul language on the part of the Malayan boatswain—whose name was Waterspoon—and to his alleged demands for a share of their pay.

The perspiring judge postponed the case when the crew refused to plead guilty.

SCHOOL TESTS ALL CURBS FOR COMMON COLD

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—If you can wait through one more winter, the University of Minnesota may be able to answer for you the question, "What to Do After the First Sneezes?"

Dr. Harold S. Diehl, head of the medical school, said today study of effectiveness of cold preventive preparations, under way for some time, will be completed by the end of the current school year.

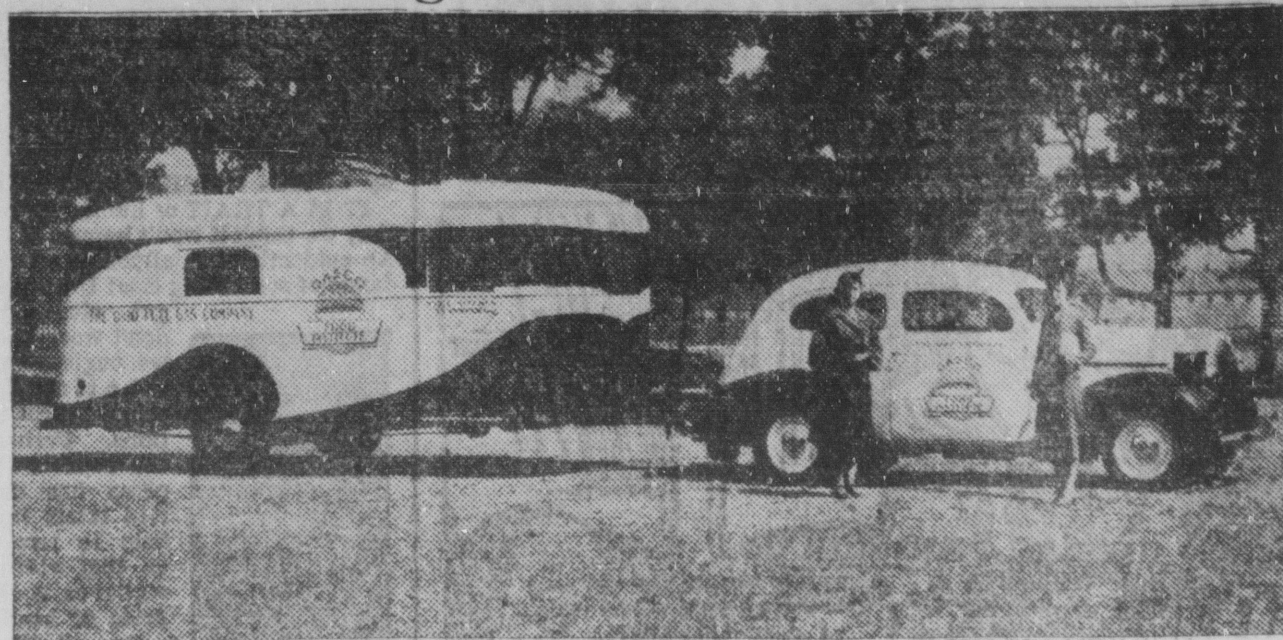

By then, test-treatments will have been given to 2,000 cooperating students and reports of results made by the students will have been analyzed. It then will be possible to draw and report conclusions as to which of the preparations used has had real merit in preventing colds.

The study is being conducted by Dr. Diehl and Dr. A. B. Baker of the health service. It will provide data on six preparations most of which are being used widely for treatment of colds, including one vaccine intended to immunize against head colds.

51 COLLEGE COURSES FREE

TOLEDO (UP)—The University of Toledo's "Opportunity School," which is operated for persons who are out of work and have time on their hands, offers 51 courses to those who "wish to improve themselves." The school has no college standing.

"Traveling Home" of Model Kitchen

ABOVE is pictured the modern trailer which is the "traveling home" of the model all-gas kitchen of the 1938 Food Institute. The kitchen is constructed in units so that it may be taken down and transported from city to city. Next Monday it will be assembled into a modern all-gas kitchen on the stage of Memorial Hall and will serve as the attractive setting for all cooking demonstrations of The Herald's Food Institute opening here

Wednesday afternoon at 2. The trailer is under the supervision of Ronald Lowe. Miss Katherine Thiele is the special food lecturer in charge of all cooking demonstrations of the three-day program.

MRS. JENKINS AND BULLDOG HAVE DOUBLES

MENA, Ark. (UP)—Apparently there are too many Mrs. Jenkins with bull dogs. A local bus terminal received a long distance call for a Mrs. Jenkins who could "be identified by her bull dog."

Bus officials found "Mrs. Jenkins with the bull dog" and she took the call. It was her husband, who told her to wait in Mena and he was coming there to meet her.

Mrs. Jenkins—the first party—cancelled her bus passage and proceeded to wait for her husband. No husband appeared and she called the police to investigate.

A Mr. Jenkins arrived in town when the matter had become perplexing and perplexed it even more. His wife, whom he had called that morning—he thought—had not waited for him.

When the matter was settled, the Mrs. Jenkins—the second party—had been scheduled to pass through Mena en route home to Waldron, Ark. She also had a bull dog. She had changed her plans and was not routed through Mena.

Result: the first Mrs. Jenkins with the bull dog had to stay overnight in Mena until the next bus went through. The first Mr. Jenkins—not the husband of the first Mrs. etc.—proceeded to continue his merry chase in efforts to catch the second Mrs. Jenkins with the bull dog.

BAR OF GOLD UNEARTHED

MELBOURNE (UP)—Vivian Rose, 16, unearthed a bar of gold valued at $1,000 while digging in her garden at Ballarat East, near here. It is believed the bar was stolen by a stage-coach robber or bushranger and buried there 50 years ago.

Greetings 23 Years Late

VIENNA (UP)—A birthday greeting card posted 23 years ago at Pressburg, 40 miles from here, has just been received in Vienna by the son of the intended recipient. The original addressee is dead.

NEW BRUNSWICK AGAIN ATTACKS OLD DEBT LAW

FREDERICTON, N. B. (UP)—Motivated by Attorney General J. B. McNair, plans are underway to renovate New Brunswick's antiquated debt law, long ridiculed by lawyers and social workers as the one on which creditors so hounded Dickens' immortal Micawber in "David Copperfield."

Amendments to the act, said to be the only one in existence in the civilized world, were stymied to permit legislative officials to attend the coronation last Spring.

Agitation against the statute has been underway for the past 20 years, sponsored by the New Brunswick Barristers Association.

The clause under attack permits the creditor not only to obtain an execution against the goods of the debtor, but to obtain an execution against his body also. In St. John, largest city in the province, an average of six persons are jailed monthly for debts.

A pound of dried eggs is said to have food value equivalent to three pounds of frozen eggs.

WORSE WARS

"THE life of the modern soldier," wrote Dr. Samuel Johnson in 1771, "is ill represented by heroic fiction. War has means of destruction more formidable than the cannon and the sword. Of the thousands and ten thousands that perish, a very small part ever felt the stroke of an enemy; the rest languished amidst damps and putrefaction; pale, torpid, spiritless and helpless; gasping and groaning and whelmed in pits or heaved into the ocean without notice.

"Thus is a people exhausted for the most part with little effect. The public perceive an increase of debt, and at the conclusion are we recompensed for the death of multitudes and the expense of millions but how by contemplating the sudden glories of contractors whose equipages shine like meteors and whose palaces rise like exhalations."

War has changed little since then, except to grow worse. The cost now runs into billions instead of the millions he named. The slaughtered include helpless non-combatants behind the lines, women, children, the aged. The destruction includes colleges, libraries, hospitals, museums, homes and churches. In fact, there are few fortresses to be captured or destroyed in modern warfare. The institutions of civilization provide the chief targets for hostile bombs.

Why? There are no good reasons.

VIRGIN ISLANDS PLAYGROUND

THE Virgin Islands, once referred by a distinguished American as a "poor-house", have emerged some distance from the depths of depression. Though they are not yet self-supporting, their revenues are increasing and their deficit decreasing. Their original industries—rum, bay rum, and sugar—are reviving. Many improvements have been made.

New hope and opportunity are found in another line. A club has been proposed for people who can afford to pay an initiation fee of $1,000. "The principal idea," says the club's prospectus, "is to provide all the pleasantness of life and none of the unpleasantness." The plan is to locate the club on 900 acres on St. John, one of the islands. The attractions offered, besides "getting away from it all," are fine climate, almost no insects and flies, a soft, steady trade wind for yachting, no tidal problems—the rise and fall being six to ten inches—and the romance of such place names as Rendezvous Bay, Whistling Bay, Privateer Bay, Chocolate Hole and Mermaid's Chair.

One rich man's club wouldn't solve all the problems of all the islands in the group. But the attractions listed would prove equally delightful for thousands of tourists of modest means who would doubtless make generous use of all vaca-

WPA SPENDING BOOSTED

WASHINGTON—There is a grim story the mounting expenditures for relief, which this month will reach a total of $170,000,000. This sum goes to a total of 2,500,000 on the Federal relief rolls, which means a 500,000 increase since February.

This $170,000,000 total is almost $100,000,000 more than WPA was spending last October, and graphically illustrates what has happened in the country since business went into the autumnal nose-dive.

Every month since then, as the recession has deepened, demands for WPA aid have mounted. Here are the figures: WPA Expenditures WPA Relief Rolls

November	$ 97,300,000	1,520,000
December	$114,500,000	1,629,000
January	$118,900,000	1,900,000
February	$135,000,000	2,009,000

EMERGENCY GRANT

The big step-up to $170,000,000 in March was made possible by the recent "emergency grant" of $250,000,000. This was an emergency grant in every sense of the word. Without it, relief rolls would have been held down to around $80,000,000 a month—or about one-half what they are in March.

Two factors to be kept in mind regarding relief during the next few months are: 1. The decline in employment has leveled off, but at the same time, few men already unemployed are finding new jobs. So with savings depleted, more are being added to relief rolls.

2. In addition to WPA relief, which is supplied by the Federal Government, States, cities and counties are bearing a heavy burden, namely about 1,900,000 men at a cost of $50,000,000 monthly.

To lighten this load, WPA has absorbed 500,000 of these local jobless during the last two months. But demand for aid is so great that this 500,000 hole in the local rolls now has been filled by a rush of 700,000 more jobless.

FOREIGN WIVES

With jobs as scarce as hen's teeth, American bachelor diplomats are not letting their hearts run away with their heads when it comes to obeying Secretary Hull's ban against foreign wives.

Representative Bob Bacon of New York, father of three daughters, showed considerable interest in the Hull ruling during discussions of the State Department Appropriation bill.

"Why don't you permit these young men to come home occasionally so they would have a chance to meet nice American girls?" he asked Assistant Secretary of State Messersmith.

Messersmith promised to give the idea consideration.

"Since the order has been in effect," Bacon inquired, "have you had to ask for any resignations, or has it stopped such marriages?"

"I would say," replied Messersmith meaningly, "that the Department's instructions have had the effect of making men think about the matter."

A CASE FOR 3 DETECTIVES

By LEO BRUCE

COPYRIGHT BY LEO BRUCE, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER 48

"THIS 'ERE Williams was the cleverest kind of a murderer," Sergeant Beef continued, "the one 'oo knows 'ow to take advantage of an opportunity. That's 'arf the game. I'm of the opinion that anyone could be murdered, and no one found out, if every murderer did it just at the right moment. That's wot this Williams was thinking when 'e was 'e pretending to search the room. 'E knew that Dr. Thurston was in the game with 'er, but 'e knew very well that when the doctor found she was really dead, 'e'd never dare let on to that, because 'e'd been 'anged himself—for certain. All 'e 'ad to be sure of was that the doctor went upstairs alone, and made the discovery on 'is own, too."

"I don't suppose that was difficult. 'E knew the doctor was downstairs alone in the lounge. All 'e 'ad to do was to suggest to 'im something that would send 'im upstairs again. 'Praps 'e pretended to 'ear a sound from the room. 'Praps 'e didn't 'ave to suggest nothing, because the doctor would want to go and 'ave a smile with 'is wife over the joke, when you was all out of the way. We shan't never know. But at all events, Williams comes back into the lounge, says it's no good, 'e can't get an answer on the telephone, as though 'e'd never left the receiver."

"Then Dr. Thurston goes up to 'is wife. But when 'e gets into the room, 'e finds she really 'as been murdered. 'E's just going to shout out, when 'e sees that it's going to look bad for 'im. 'E's innocent, but after all 'e suggested that dam' silly game. He made 'er pretend. And when anyone sees 'ow it was done 'e'll be suspicious. Especially with 'im 'ere alone now. So 'e says nothing, and comes downstairs, just as Williams 'opes 'e will."

"At the bottom of the stairs 'e meets Mr. Townsend, Mr. Strickland and Mr. Norris, coming in from their search of the grounds. 'E knows someone's done it, since you all left the room upstairs, and 'e doesn't know 'oo to suspect. So 'e asks you chaps where you've been. Then 'e sees that it'd look funny for 'im to be asking questions now, so 'e drops it. From that moment on, though, 'e's 'oping that the murderer'll be discovered. 'E doesn't like keeping the secret, but 'e 'as the sense to see 'e might 'ang if 'e was to tell the 'ole story of the joke."

The sergeant paused to drink again. "There's not much more to tell, except that I didn't ought never to've let them go in the other room together. See, Dr. Thurston was just going to come out with it that 'e 'ad planned that lark with 'is wife, but never 'ad nothing to do with the murder, when Williams, as you know, stopped 'im. Dr. Thurston didn't know 'oo to suspect, but 'e'd never suspected Williams. 'E was led off like a lamb to the other room. Tell you the truth, I wouldn't never 'ave let him, only I was hoping that we might get a bit more evidence if Williams was to tell 'im not to say anything, and 'e got suspicious of Williams. But that's wot comes of trying to make your case too cast iron. As soon as 'e got 'im, it there Williams shot 'im, stuck the revolver in 'is 'and and opened the door, with a story ready of 'ow 'e'd just turned 'is back and Dr. Thurston shot himself. If that 'ad of come orf 'e'd 'ave been clear, see?"

"Williams must 'ave thought I really suspected Dr. Thurston. But I didn't. I knew it was Williams."

"How?" I asked. "After all, it was Thurston who had arranged the so-called joke. It was Thurston who had said she was dead. How did you know it was Williams who went back in that room and killed Mrs. Thurston?"

"I knew it was Williams."

"Simple, sir. I've told you I 'aven't got no theories. I'm no good at anything like that. I'm just an ordinary policeman, as you might say. I found out 'ow the murder was done by them bloodstains and inkstains. And I found out 'oo done the murder by bloodstains and inkstains, too. See, I 'ave to use these regulation methods. Never do for me to get up to any fanciful tricks like 'arf-mast flags, and spiders and flies, and Sidney Sewells, and that. You gentlemen understand all that. I just 'ave to follow instructions for procedure in a case of crime. So when I'd found them stains, I 'ad a look at the clothes you'd all been wearing that night. And on the left breast of Williams' shirt, off of the 'ard part and quite near the armpit, I found a very faint pink mark. And I knew it was red ink. See when 'e'd picked up the first pillow slip wot the red ink 'ad been on, 'e stuffed it inside of 'is waistcoat to take away and burn later. And although it 'ad been almost dry then, it 'ad just made that faint smudge. Then again on the outside underneath part of 'is cuff what should I find but another little stain. This 'un was red, too, only it wasn't ink, it was blood. Very likely there'd been some more on 'is jacket, but 'e'd seen that an' washed it orf. Only no one couldn't 'ardly 'ave seen this. It was only small, right on the edge of the cuff. That's 'ow I knew it was 'im."

"But we'll 'ave plenty more evidence. 'E never left a fingerprint anywhere, 'aving plenty of time. But when 'e came to shooting Dr. Thurston I should think it 'd more likely 'e left 'em on the revolver, gambling on being able to get back later and wipe 'em. So we'll 'ave 'im there. Besides, when it comes to the inquest on Dr. Thurston, ten to one you'll find that the shot wot killed 'im couldn't of been self-inflicted. It can pretty well always tell nowadays, and you see if 'e wasn't shot from three or four feet away instead of close to the head."

"But there's one more important bit of evidence against 'im."

In the grate of 'is room I found a bit of charred linen, wot I sent up to the Yard to be examined. It turns out to be the same stuff as wot the rest of the pillow cases was made of. Well, that might not of been conclusive, if I 'adn't found out from the girl about the fires. You remember 'ow 'e shut me up when I started to ask 'er about that? And, not wishing to rub it in, you gentlemen joined in wiv 'im? Well, I 'ad to see 'er later. She said Mr. Williams never liked a fire in 'is room. It was laid, same as fires 'ad to be laid everywhere, in case anyone wanted to light one. But Williams 'ad never lit 'is before. And when she came to do the grate it must 'ave been nine o'clock, because I'd examined it soon after I got 'ere that morning, and found the bit of charred linen. I thought then the coals was still 'ot and she says when she came to do 'em she could feel 'em warm still. There was only a very small scuttle of coal there, and it wasn't all burnt. So 'e couldn't 'ave lighted 'is fire till the small hours, to burn that pillow case. So no one else couldn't of gone into 'is room to burn it there."

"But what was his motive?" I asked. I wasn't skeptical now, but curious.

"Motive? 'E 'ad more motive than anyone. First thing I did was to go froo Mrs. Thurston's papers. 'E'd 'ad all 'er money. All 'er own money that is, to invest. 'Adn't you thought it a bit odd as a lady with £2,000 or £3,000 a year, 'oo'd never lived extravagant, should be overdrawn so far she couldn't overdraw no farther, even if she was being blackmailed? Well, that's the reason. All she 'adn't spent of 'er income she'd been 'anding over to this 'ere Williams for years to invest for 'er. And 'e'd been living on it—'andsome. And now she was being pressed by Stall, and begged from by Strickland, she wanted a bit. And of course it wasn't there. Only when 'e came down this week-end 'e never thought 'e'd get as good a chance as that to do 'er in without being caught!"

DIET AND HEALTH

How Epidemics Occur When Vigilance Relaxes.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
IT IS A TRAIT of human nature that we think it won't happen to us. An epidemic of smallpox or an epidemic of something else! Until they get close, we don't worry. So we neglect vaccination and other precautions.

Perhaps the reports the press has carried lately may help to remind us that eternal vigilance is the price of health. One of these epidemics occurred at Columbia Falls, Mont. A farmer in North Dakota moved in from his farmstead with 18 children, 13 grandchildren and other relatives, and brought with him sausages which he had manufactured from his own cured hogs. These sausages were expected to last the family through the winter. Just before Christmas nine of them came down with fever and vomiting. Later others in the family took sick. Finally, one child died and it was found that they were all suffering from trichinosis due to the infection of their sausages. Trichinosis is due to a small worm which gets into the muscles of domestic animals. It is especially likely to attack pork. Unless the meat is thoroughly cured or cooked these worms are not killed and will go out into the tissues and muscles of anyone who eats such meat.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Even carefully inspected meat may have enough trichina to cause an epidemic. So Hygeia, the health magazine, warns "Pink pork is dangerous and should never be eaten. Raw pork must be cooked until white." The United States is the most trichinosis country in the world.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

Supporters of the Sheppard-Hill May war bill, now the subject of hot contention in congress, are not necessarily (not all of them) militarists.

The proposed measure is the one designed to give dictatorial power to the president in the event of a conflict involving the United States, including military conscription between the ages of 21 and 31, strict regulation of labor, and a taxation system shaped to limit profits to a very moderate maximum.

Militarists (no one admits that he is a militarist, but undoubtedly there are some) favor the plan because they believe it would increase Uncle Sam's war-time efficiency. However, there unquestionably are others who honestly are of the opinion that the threat of such a regime would so alarm the country as to make the war idea unpopular in America.

OPPOSED TO IT

To judge from the flood of correspondence received, relative to the scheme, by senators and representatives;

Big business is against the bill. It may not be bellicose, but, if we do have trouble, it does not want to have its profits restricted. Farmers, too, evidently are against the law. Agriculture thrives in wartime. Not that it desires war. Still, if it must be, the soil's tillers feel that they should be allowed to make as much money as possible out of it; not have crop prices curtailed.

Labor opposes the bill. Naturally it does not favor the notion of having its wages kept down at the very time when normally they should be skyrocketing. It sees in the bill Fascistic rule by a military group.

Peace societies, as might be expected, are adverse.

Civil liberties organizations likewise are adverse. They object to a dictatorship on general principles. Furthermore they fear that a temporary dictatorship would be likely to become permanent.

MANY FOR IT

Nevertheless, strange to say, the volume of congressional letters and telegrams (there's a flood of them) on the Sheppard-Hill-May bill's side, appreciably is greater than on the opposite side.

Messages from the bill "pros" are mainly from American Legion posts.

Why? Well, as I see it, our Legionnaires made less than nothing out of the last year. They were conscripted and stay-at-homes raked in the "grave". They propose to see that, the next time, home-staying business, labor and agriculture shall be as much restricted as they were.

AS A "VET" SEES IT

Illustratively:
Across the street from my house lives a Legionnaire who was chewed up in the tank service. He has had his bonus, which he quickly lost by bad management—but harmless bad management. He is not disabled enough to be completely disabled. He is only disabled enough to be useless for practical industrial purposes.

His belief is that the dictatorship which originally grabbed him ought to be permanent enough to take care of him today.

He argues for a PERMANENT dictatorship.

This reasoning, I take it, looks on into the future.

It accounts, I think, for the rank-and-file reckonings of Legionnaires.

POPULAR VOTE?

Folk, to be sure, should recognize that they must not be yanked into a war needlessly, as into the last one.

Should a popular vote be required, to settle such questions?

the law. Agriculture thrives in wartime. Not that it desires war. Still, if it must be, the soil's tillers feel that they should be allowed to make as much money as possible out of it; not have crop prices curtailed.

Labor opposes the bill. Naturally it does not favor the notion of having its wages kept down at the very time when normally they should be skyrocketing. It sees in the bill Fascistic rule by a military group.

Peace societies, as might be expected, are adverse.

Civil liberties organizations likewise are adverse. They object to a dictatorship on general principles. Furthermore they fear that a temporary dictatorship would be likely to become permanent.

MANY FOR IT

Nevertheless, strange to say, the volume of congressional letters and telegrams (there's a flood of them) on the Sheppard-Hill-May bill's side, appreciably is greater than on the opposite side.

Messages from the bill "pros" are mainly from American Legion posts.

Why?

Well, I see it, our Legionnaires made less than nothing out of the last year. They were conscripted and stay-at-homes raked in the "gravey". They propose to see that, the next time, home-staying business, labor and agriculture shall be as much restricted as they were.

AS A "VET" SEES IT

Illustratively:

Across the street from my house lives a Legionnaire who was chewed up in the tank service. He has had his bonus, which he quickly lost by bad management—but harmless bad management. He is not disabled enough to be completely disabled. He is only disabled enough to be useless for practical industrial purposes.

His belief is that the dictatorship which originally grabbed him ought to be permanent enough to take care of him today.

He argues for a PERMANENT dictatorship.

This reasoning, I take it, looks on into the future.

It accounts, I think, for the rank-and-file reckonings of Legionnaires.

POPULAR VOTE?

Folk, to be sure, should recognize that they must not be yanked into a war needlessly, as into the last one.

Should a popular vote be required, to settle such questions?

"THIS 'ERE Williams was the cleverest kind of a murderer," Sergeant Beef continued, "the one 'oo knows 'ow to take advantage of an opportunity. That's 'arf the game. I'm of the opinion that anyone could be murdered, and no one found out, if every murderer did it just at the right moment. That's wot this Williams was thinking when 'e was pretending to search the room. 'E knew that Dr. Thurston was in the game with 'er, but 'e knew very well that when the doctor found she was really dead, 'e'd never dare let on to that, because 'e'd been 'anged himself—'er certain. All 'e 'ad to be sure of was that the doctor went upstairs alone, and made the discovery on 'is own, too.

"I don't suppose that was difficult. 'E knew the doctor was downstairs alone in the lounge. All 'e 'ad to do was to suggest to 'im something that would send 'im upstairs again. 'Praps 'e pretended to 'ear a sound from the room. 'Praps 'e didn't 'ave to suggest nothink, because the doctor would want to go and 'ave a smile with 'is wife over the joke, when you was all out of the way. We shan't never know. But at all events, Williams comes back into the lounge, says it's no good, 'e can't get an answer on the telephone, as though 'e'd never left the receiver.

"Then Dr. Thurston goes up to 'is wife. But when 'e gets into the room, 'e finds she really 'as been murdered. 'E's just going to shout out, when 'e sees that it's going to look bad for 'im. 'E's innocent, but after all 'e suggested that dam' silly game. He made 'er pretend. And when anyone sees 'ow it was done 'e'll be suspected. Especially with 'im up 'ere alone now. So 'e says nothink, and comes downstairs, just as Williams 'opes 'e will.

"At the bottom of the stairs 'e meets Mr. Townsend, Mr. Strickland and Mr. Norris, coming in from their search of the grounds. 'E knows someone's done it, since you all left the room upstairs, and 'e doesn't know 'oo to suspect. So 'e asks you chaps where you've been. Then 'e sees that it 'ud look funny for 'im to be asking questions now, so 'e drops it. From that moment, though, 'e's 'oping that the murderer'll be discovered. 'E doesn't like keeping the secret, but 'e 'ad the sense to see 'e might 'ang if 'e was to tell the 'ole story of the joke."

The sergeant paused to drink again. "There's not much more to tell, except that I didn't ought never to've let them go in the other room together. See, Dr. Thurston was just going to come out with it that 'e 'ad planned that lark with 'is wife, but never 'ad nothink to do with the murder, when Williams, as you know, stopped 'im. Dr. Thurston didn't know 'oo to suspect, but 'e'd never suspected Williams. 'E was led off like a lamb to the other room. Tell you the truth, I wouldn't never 'ave let 'im, only I was hoping that we might get a bit more evidence if Williams was to tell 'im not to say anything, and 'e got suspicious of Williams. But that's wot comes of trying to make your case too cast iron. As soon as 'e got 'im at there Williams shot 'im, stuck the revolver in 'is 'and and opened the door, with a story ready of 'ow 'e'd just turned 'is back and Dr. Thurston shot himself. If that 'ad of come orf 'e'd 'ave been clear, see?"

"Williams must 'ave thought I really suspected Dr. Thurston. But I didn't. I knew it was Williams."

"How?" I asked. "After all, it was Thurston who had arranged the so-called joke. It was Thurston who had said she was dead. How did you know it was Wil-LIAMS who went back in that room and killed Mrs. Thurston?"

"Simple, sir. I've told you I 'ave got no theories. I'm no good at anything like that. I'm just an ordinary policeman, as you might say. I found out 'ow the murder was done by them bloodstains and inkstains. And I found out 'oo done the murder by bloodstains and inkstains, too. See, I 'ave to use these regulation methods. Never do for me to get up to any fanciful tricks like 'arf-mast flags, and spiders 'im wiv' dies, and Sidney Sewells, and that. You gentlemen understand all that. I just 'ave to follow instructions for procedure in a case of crime. So when I'd found them stains, I 'ad a look at the clothes you'd all been wearing that night. And on the left breast of Williams' shirt, off of the 'ard part and quite near the armpit, I found a very faint pink mark. And I knew it was red ink. See when 'e'd picked up the first pillow slip wot the red ink 'ad been on 'e stuffed it inside of 'is waistcoat to take away and burn later. And although it 'ad been almost dry then, it 'ad just made that faint smudge. Then again on the outside underneath part of 'is cuff what should I find but another little stain. This 'un was red, too, only it wasn't ink, it was blood. Very likely there'd been some more on 'is jacket, but 'e'd seen that an' washed it orf. Only no one couldn't hardly 'ave seen this. It was only small, right on the edge of the cuff. That's 'ow I knew it was 'im.

"But we'll 'ave plenty more evidence. 'E never left a fingerprint anywhere, 'aving plenty of time. But when 'e came to shooting Dr. Thurston I should think it 'smore than likely 'e left 'em on the revolver, gambling on being able to get back later and wipe 'em. So we'll 'ave 'im there. Besides, when it comes to the inquest on Dr. Thurston, ten to one you'll find that the shot wot killed 'im couldn't 'ave been self-inflicted. They can pretty well always tell nowadays, and you see if 'e wasn't shot from three or four feet away instead of close to the head.

"But there's one more important bit of evidence against 'im.

DIET AND HEALTH

How Epidemics Occur When Vigilance Relaxes.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IT IS A TRAIT of human nature that we think it won't happen to us. An epidemic of smallpox or an epidemic of something else! Until they get close, we don't worry. So we neglect vaccination and other precautions. Perhaps the reports the press has carried lately may help to remind us that eternal vigilance is the price of health.

One of these epidemics occurred at Columbia Falls, Mont. A farmer in North Dakota moved in from his farmstead with 15 children, 13 grandchildren and other relatives, and brought with him sausages which he had manufactured from his own cured hogs. These sausages were expected to last the family through the winter. Just before Christmas nine of them came down with fever and vomit-ly likely to attack pork. Unless the meat is thoroughly cured or cooked these worms are not killed and will go out into the tissues and muscles of anyone who eats such meat.

Disease Widespread

The magazine from which I abstract this report, says that the disease is widespread; that there are "seventeen million estimated U. S. victims." I do not know who made this estimation, but it seems extremely high. For instance, in Ohio the disease has been reportable since 1928, and from that date until March, 1936, there were 96 cases reported. If every state had as high a number and the reported cases represented only half of those which actually occurred, it would mean less than 10,000 cases in eight years. Reliable statistics are, however, notably lacking.

The condition calls attention to the fact that there is a great deal of meat put on the market which does not undergo careful inspection. Meat is not federally inspected unless it is carried from state to state, or unless the butcher makes request for federal inspection. In many states irresponsible private butchers and packers bootleg uninspected meat to cheap restaurant and butcher shops, and epidemics of this kind could easily result from this practice.

Even carefully inspected meat may have enough trichina to cause an epidemic. So Hygeia, the health magazine, warns "Pink pork is dangerous and should never be eaten. Raw pork must be cooked until white." The United States is the most trichinosis country in the world.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ing. Later others in the family took sick. Finally, one child died and it was found that they were all suffering from trichinosis due to the infection of their sausages.

Trichinosis is due to a small worm which gets into the muscles of domestic animals. It is especial-

Two-Piano and Violin Recital Planned Sunday

Van Vliet Home To Be Scene of Program

Mrs. Leon Van Vliet and Frank R. Meier will give a two-piano recital, assisted by Wilbert Maddux, violinist, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the studio of Mrs. Van Vliet, 157 W. High street, for the pleasure and instruction of her pupils.

Mr. Meier received a bachelor of music degree from Capitol College of Oratory and Music, and studied piano under C. C. Crammond, Prof. Herman Ebeling, Leo Podolsky, a concert pianist, and last Summer took a normal course of children's musical training under Louise Robyn, in Chicago, Ill. Mr. Meier has been a successful teacher in Columbus for many years. He is organist in a Columbus church.

Mr. Maddux as a youth studied under Jean ten Have, and later studied for a year with Lucein Capet, of the National Conservatoire, Paris. He attended the master classes of Jacques Thibaud, and had private lessons with Eugene Ysaye, of Brussels. He also has made many violins and violas, and for this recital he will play on one of them.

The program for the afternoon will include the following numbers: Duos: The Harmonious Blacksmith, by Handel; Tango in D, by Albeniz; Turkish March, by Beethoven.

Violin: Berceuse, by Godard; Gavotte, by Gossec; Souvenir, by Drla.

Duos: Venetian Love Song, by Nevin; Gondoliers, by Nevin.

Violin: Meditation, by Massenet; Waltz in A Major, by Brahms.

Duo: Russian Rhapsody, by Hesselberg (Based on traditional Folk Songs and Dance Tunes).

Zelda Sewing Club

Twenty-one members and visitors enjoyed the pleasant afternoon when Mrs. Herman A. Sayre was hostess to the Zelda sewing club Wednesday. The afternoon was passed in sewing for charity and a desert course was served by Mrs. Sayre during the social hour. The club will meet with Mrs. Orville Trone in two weeks.

U. B. Aid of East Ringgold

The Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church of East Ringgold met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Ferguson, with 25 members and visitors in attendance. Following the regular business and devotionals, a program of music and readings was presented.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ferguson during the social hour.

D. A. R.

Several members of the Pickaway Plains chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution will attend the meetings of the Ohio Society of D. A. R. which will convene in Columbus Sunday and continue through Thursday of next week.

Mrs. Bryce Briggs, regent of the Circleville chapter, Mrs. Orion King, Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker, of Circleville, and Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, of Williamsport, will be in Columbus for the entire session. Mrs. Walter Kindler, Mrs. Lee Shaner, Mrs. C. C. Watts, Mrs. Charles H. May, of Circleville, and Mrs. Paul Cromley, of Ashville, are a few of the many chapter members planning to attend the different meetings.

The state society of the Daughters of American Colonists will meet Thursday night and Friday following the sessions of the D. A. R. and Mrs. Orion King, regent of the Major John Boggs chapter of Circleville, Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker and Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker will remain in Columbus for these meetings.

Thimble Club

Mrs. James Sampson, E. Franklin street, was hostess to the members of the Thimble club, Wednesday afternoon, at its regular meeting. The hours were passed in sewing and visiting. Light refreshments were served.

Two-Piano and Violin
Recital Planned Sunday

Van Vliet Home
To Be Scene of Program

Mrs. Leon Van Vliet and Frank R. Meier will give a two-piano recital, assisted by Wilbert Maddux, violinist, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the studio of Mrs. Van Vliet, 157 W. High street, for the pleasure and instruction of her pupils.

Mr. Meier received a bachelor of music degree from Capitol College of Oratory and Music, and studied piano under C. C. Crammond, Prof. Herman Ebeling, Leo Podolsky, a concert pianist, and last Summer took a normal course of children's musical training under Louise Robyn, in Chicago, Ill. Mr. Meier has been a successful teacher in Columbus for many years. He is organist in a Columbus church.

Mr. Maddux as a youth studied under Jean ten Have, and later studied for a year with Lucien Capet, of the National Conservatoire, Paris. He attended the master classes of Jacques Thibaud, and had private lessons with Eugene Ysaey, of Brussels. He also has made many violins and violas, and for this recital he will play on one of them.

The program for the afternoon will include the following numbers: Duos: The Harmonious Blacksmith, by Handel; Tango in D, by Albeniz; Turkish March, by Beethoven.

Violin: Berceuse, by Godard; Gavotte, by Gossec; Souvenir, by Drolla. Duos: Venetian Love Song, by Nevin; Gondoliers, by Nevin; Norwegian Dance, by Grieg; Violin: Meditation, by Massenet; Waltz in A Major, by Brahms; Duo: Russian Rhapsody, by Hesselberg (Based on traditional Folk Songs and Dance Tunes).

Zelda Sewing Club
Twenty-one members and visitors enjoyed the pleasant afternoon when Mrs. Herman A. Sayre was hostess to the Zelda sewing club Wednesday. The afternoon was passed in sewing for charity and a desert course was served by Mrs. Sayre during the social hour. The club will meet with Mrs. Orville Trone in two weeks.

U. B. Aid of East Ringgold
The Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church of East Ringgold met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Ferguson, with 25 members and visitors in attendance. Following the regular business and devotion period, a program of music and readings was presented. Lunch was served by Mrs. Ferguson during the social hour.

D. A. R.
Several members of the Pickaway Plains chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution will attend the meetings of the Ohio Society of D. A. R. which will convene in Columbus Sunday and continue through Thursday of next week.

Mrs. Bryce Briggs, regent of the Circleville chapter, Mrs. Orion King, Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker, of Circleville, and Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, of Williamsport, will be in Columbus for the entire session. Mrs. Walter Kindler, Mrs. Lee Shaner, Mrs. C. C. Watts, Mrs. Charles H. May, of Circleville, and Mrs. Paul Cromley, of Ashville, are a few of the many chapter members planning to attend the different meetings.

The state society of the Daughters of American Colonists will meet Thursday night and Friday following the sessions of the D. A. R. and Mrs. Orion King, regent of the Major John Boggs chapter of Circleville, Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker and Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker will remain in Columbus for these meetings.

Thimble Club
Mrs. James Sampson, E. Franklin street, was hostess to the members of the Thimble club, Wednesday afternoon, at its regular meeting. The hours were passed in sewing and visiting. Light refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon. Mrs. Franklin Crites will entertain the club in two weeks.

VITT TO EMPLOY ALL ROOKIES IN STARTING POSTS

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 10 — (UP) — Manager Oscar Vitt was to test his Cleveland Indian rookies under competitive fire here today when the Tribe played its initial practice game of the training season against the New Orleans Pelicans.

The only veteran scheduled to see service was Roy Weatherly, diminutive outfielder, who is attempting to make a comeback after a miserable season a year ago.

In the outfield with Weatherly will be stationed Bill Sodd and Mike McCormick. The infield will have Oscar Grimes at first; Lloyd Russell at second; Tommy Irwin at short; and Ken Keltner at third.

Henry Helf was scheduled to do the pitching; with Bill Zuber, John Humphries and Charley Suche sharing the mound assignment.

Johnny Allen, the big right-hander who won 15 games and lost one last season, took his first workout with the squad yesterday.

With his arrival only holdouts Jeff Heath and Julius Solters were absent from camp.

JIM HULL NAMED TO HEAD BUCKS IN NEXT SEASON

COLUMBUS, March 10 — (UP) — Jimmy Hull, slender junior forward, today was named captain of the Ohio State basketball team for the 1938-39 season.

Hull, who starred in his scholastic days at Greenfield McClain, has been a regular on the Buck quintet for the past two seasons. This year he established a new all-time Ohio State scoring record by garnering 134 points in 12 Western conference games. The old mark was 133 points, set by Johnny Miner in 1925.

Captain-Elect Hull; Retiring Captain Jim McDonald; Dick Baker, John Schick, Bill Sattler, Dan Prewitt and Bob Stafford, were awarded monograms. McDonald is the only senior in the group.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

START OUT RIGHT.
IF YOU GET OUT on the wrong foot, you are out of luck in many activities of life. Bridge is no exception. Take a good look at all of your assets before you play to the opening trick. Your decision at that time may determine your entire fate. Study especially the matter of entries into the dummy, if it is a weak holding and you are in a no trump game contract. The creating of one extra chance to get the lead over there across the table may be possible on the first trick and at no other time. If you fumble it, your hopes may go up in smoke.

Without stopping to consider what the play might cost him, South played the 6. He ducked the second round and won the third round of hearts with the K. With two spade winners, two clubs and one heart, four diamond tricks were necessary to make game. A spade to the K provided one chance to finesse diamonds, but there was no possible way to make another try.

On the very first trick the declarer had his chance and missed it. As East played the A of hearts, it was evident the Q was in the West hand, so South should have played the K on the A, the heart J later providing an entry to dummy.

Tomorrow's Problem

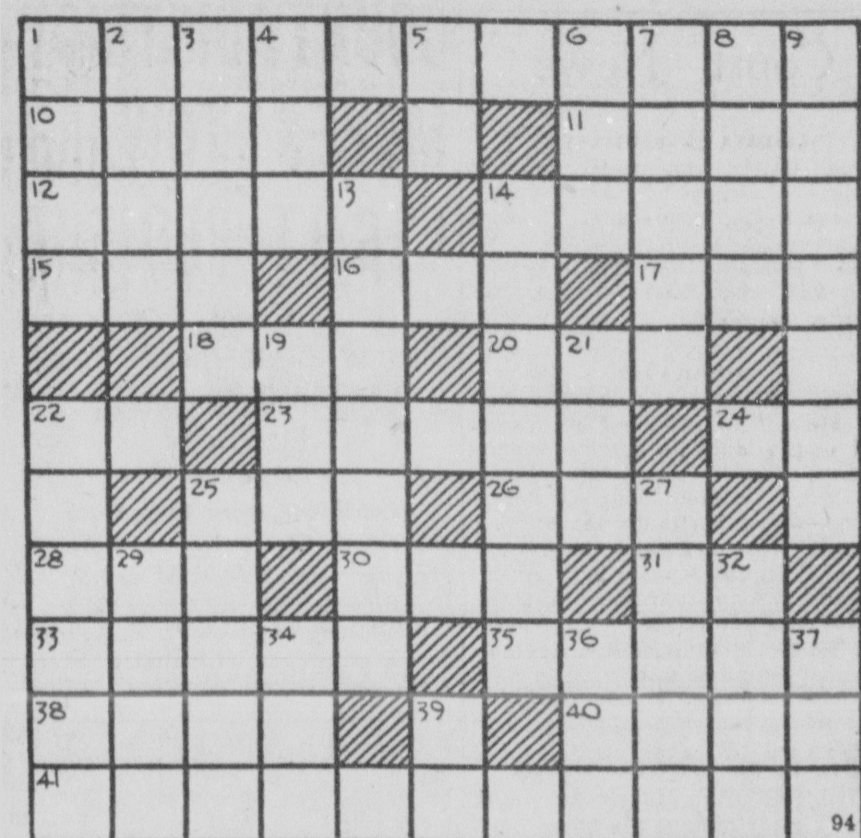

Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.
After a pass by East, South started the bidding on this deal with 2-No Trump and North took the contract to 3-No Trump.

The heart 4 was West's opening lead, on which the 7 was played from dummy and the A by East.

Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.
How should South play for his contract of 5-Clubs, the original lead having been the diamond K?

WALISA, IN OWN DEFENSE, DECLARES HOGS CAME FROM HALLSVILLE MAN

STORIES OF TWO ARRESTED MEN TERMED UNTRUE

Corwin Street Resident Denies Deal With Ben Haddox, Stevens

Roy Walisa, 35, E. Corwin street, on trial in Common Pleas court on a charge of receiving and concealing two alleged stolen hogs, told jurors during his testimony that the hogs he had in his possession last December were purchased from a man named George Dresbach of near Hallsville.

Walisa is charged with having two hogs alleged to have been stolen Dec. 22 from D. C. Rader, Pickaway township farmer. Two of three men held for the theft of the hogs said they had delivered them to Walisa.

Walisa testified that on the morning of Dec. 22 he and Forest Moss went trapping and after returning to his home he was resting on aavenport. He said he was awakened later by Miss Ruby Ford, an employee in his home, and told there was a man at the door to see him.

The defendant said the man asked him about some "20 inch tires". They went to the basement of his home, Walisa explained, where he kept used tires. Walisa stated the man had three hogs on the truck he was driving. He described the truck as a Chevrolet with a green body for hauling livestock.

Deal Explained After showing the man the tires, Walisa said they made a deal for two of the three hogs the man was hauling. He testified he paid the truck driver $22 and gave him two used tires for the hogs. The truck, he explained, was then backed into his property and the hogs were unloaded into an old auto body.

Walisa said he did not take the license number of the truck. He explained that he had purchased five hogs from the same man a year ago and he understood his name was George Dresbach and he lived near Hallsville.

The state charged that Walisa had met the three men held for the theft on the Sunday afternoon or evening before Rader's hogs were stolen.

Walisa said that on the Sunday before Christmas he went to Columbus about noon and did not return until after supper. He visited Mr. and Mrs. Otto Amos, he said. Walisa contended he did not meet the men on that Sunday before Christmas or on the night the hogs were stolen.

He testified that Henry Schwalbaugh, 25, one of the three men accused of the theft, had formerly lived in a room in his garage. Walisa said he ordered Schwalbaugh to move when he failed to pay his rent.

Others called as witnesses by the defense Wednesday afternoon included Mr. and Mrs. Forest Moss, city, who said they made the trip to Columbus with Mr. and Mrs. Walisa on the Sunday before Christmas, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Amos, of Columbus. Wilson Seymour, 19, who resides at the Walisa home, said Mr. and Mrs. Walisa left on that day and did not return until after dark.

Seymour contended he did not see any of the three men accused of the theft visit the home on Sunday. He testified he saw a man with a truck leave two hogs but he did not know the man.

An interesting highlight in the Wednesday afternoon session was the testimony of Lawrence Schwalbaugh, of Sams Creek, Hocking county, brother of Henry Schwalbaugh.

The witness said he formerly resided on the Carl Imler farm in Saltcreek township. He testified that on Dec. 22 he purchased two hogs for $13 from a man named Guy Hamilton. The man, he said, came to his home with his brother in an old auto.

Haddox, 25, of E. Union street, as the man who signed a receipt for the hogs. The witness said the receipt for the hogs was signed by the man with his left hand. This receipt and a sample of the handwriting of Haddox, written with his left hand, were introduced in evidence. The sample of handwriting was obtained when Haddox was on the witness stand the previous day.

Schwalbaugh identified Edgar Stevens, 23, of First avenue, as the man with his brother and Haddox. Haddox, Stevens and Henry Schwalbaugh are charged with the theft of Mr. Rader's hogs. The witness said the hogs he purchased were black and one weighed 100 pounds and the other was lighter. He said he had butchered them.

Walisa returned to the stand Thursday for completion of direct examination and for cross examination.

At noon recess George E. Gerhardt, county prosecutor, and C. A. Leist, one of the attorneys for Walisa, expressed opinions the case would possibly be submitted to the jury in the afternoon.

Three rebuttal witnesses had been called by the state at the noon recess. Several more were to be called, the prosecutor said.

Roy Walisa, 35, E. Corwin street, on trial in Common Pleas court on a charge of receiving and concealing two alleged stolen hogs, told jurors during his testimony that the hogs he had in his possession last December were purchased from a man named George Dresbach of near Hallsville.

Birds of a feather flock together; the real test will come when Hitler tries an "anschluss" with Russia.

Haddox, 25, of E. Union street, as the man who signed a receipt for the hogs. The witness said the receipt for the hogs was signed by the man with his left hand. This receipt and a sample of the handwriting of Haddox, written with his left hand, were introduced in evidence. The sample of handwriting was obtained when Haddox was on the witness stand the previous day.

Schwalbaugh identified Edgar Stevens, 23, of First avenue, as the man with his brother and Haddox. Haddox, Stevens and Henry Schwalbaugh are charged with the theft of Mr. Rader's hogs.

The witness said the hogs he purchased were black and one weighed 100 pounds and the other was lighter. He said he had butchered them.

Walisa returned to the stand Thursday for completion of direct examination and for cross examination.

At noon recess George E. Gerhardt, county prosecutor, and C. A. Leist, one of the attorneys for Walisa, expressed opinions the case would possibly be submitted to the jury in the afternoon.

Three rebuttal witnesses had been called by the state at the noon recess. Several more were to be called, the prosecutor said.

district for their part in relieving the suffering in the flood districts. Mr. Johnson ended his address with a lesson in Indian sign language learned when he was made an honorary chief.

Harlowe on Program
Importance of a game management program was emphasized by Fred Harlowe, district conservation officer, in a brief address. He told of stocking the Montellus farm in Pickaway township with rabbits and recently transferring 51 bunnies to other parts of the county. Only three of the rabbits caught had tags in their ears, showing they were the original stock placed on the farm.

He urged sportsmen to keep vermin at a minimum and be careful while driving along highways not to kill game.

The speakers were introduced by Earl Duvall, of Columbus, native of Pickaway county. Mr. Duvall was introduced by B. S. Millar, of South Bloomfield, president of the club.

One hundred merchandise prizes donated by business houses and individuals were distributed to guests. Funds obtained from the distribution will be used for purchasing game and fish for restocking Pickaway county farms and streams.

The banquet of filleted pickerel was served by members of the American Legion auxiliary. Music during the banquet and sound equipment were furnished by Link M. Mader. Winners of the merchandise prizes were announced by Mr. Mader.

The program was concluded with motion pictures shown by Lee Morris, Columbus sportsman.

community, is less than 30 miles from the Atlantic ocean.

The compass failed to function properly after the plane had left Washington last night. Carpenter tried to reach Charleston, but was informed by radio that a landing there was impossible because of fog.

He turned back and for more than three hours circled blindly over the coastal plains of North Carolina, waiting for daybreak.

He spotted the plowed field when he had only a few gallons of gasoline left, he said, and set the ship down "just in time" near the W. B. Venter and Simon Taylor farms two miles south of here.

Carpenter's co-pilot was Charles C. Curry, of Memphis and Miss Olive Pearson, also of Memphis, was the stewardess.

In addition to Miss Fears, the passengers were:
Grove Webster, Oklahoma City.
Gordon Fisk, Boston.

A. Mrs. Northcutt, address undesignated.
J. O. Rice, Phoenix, Ariz.
W. W. Zass, Little Rock.

Robertson, D. Va., to increase the $2 a gallon liquor tax to $2.25 to raise an estimated $35,000,000.

2. A one-cent a gallon fuel oil tax backed by Reps. Pat Boland and J. Harold Flannery, Pennsylvania Democrats, which would raise about $146,000,000.

3. Increase of the 20 percent undistributed profits tax to 21 percent.

4. Reinstatement of about $30,000,000 in minor excise taxes which the bill proposes to repeal. Objections were found to each of these proposals.

RADIO STATION MANAGER WOULD ASSIST BALLADS

DETROIT, March 10.—(UP)—Leo Fitzpatrick, manager of radio station WJR, decreed today that orchestras would be cut off the air whenever they started "swinging" old time ballads.

"I issued an order to the station crew to stop this sort of thing after I heard our own orchestra massacre 'Annie Laurie,'" Fitzpatrick said. "I used to listen to my mother sing that song and it's semi-sacred to me."

An engineer "pulled the plug" on a nationally-known swing band Wednesday night when it "got hot" with "Coming Thru the Rye."

KILLER WINS STAY

COLUMBUS, March 10.—(UP)—William Hobbs of Hamilton, under sentence to die in the electric chair for the murder of Patrolman Arthur Sponsel last April, was granted an indefinite stay of execution by the Ohio Supreme court today when it agreed to review his conviction. Sponsel was slain when he interrupted an attempted burglary.

PLANE SEARCH GOES ON

PRESNO, Cal., March 10.—(UP)—Air and ground parties planned today to continue the search for a lost Transcontinental and Western Airways transport plane that has been missing in the high Sierras for the last 10 days, despite a conviction that the airliner was buried by heavy snows.

BAER FUNERAL RITES

MANY MILLIONS PROVIDED FOR LOW-RENT HOUSES

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(UP)—An additional $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 was placed at Ohio's disposal today for low-rent housing by the order of Nathan Straus, U. S. housing administrator, releasing an additional $200,000,000 for earmarking.

The government had decided originally to draw only from a $300,000,000 fund until next year, but the additional money was made available, Straus said, to enable cities throughout the country to draft three-year programs now and spend work in the next few months.

"Ohio is one of the states which has made it especially advisable to take this step," the administrator said.

"There we have had most of the $300,000,000 available to any particular state already earmarked, and yet additional housing authorities are being organized, such as in Warren and Zanesville, and are asking for funds."

BRITISH HECKLE HITLER'S AGENT

were shouts of "get out Ribbentrop." The demonstrators gave the left front clenched fist salute. Ribbentrop, his face stony, gave no sign that he heard.

There were reports in usually well informed quarters that Ribbentrop had instructions to tell Lord Halifax that Germany was likely before long to try to get the Czechoslovakian government to grant a substantial measure of autonomy to the 3,300,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia.

The report was that Germany sought to get Great Britain to appease probable French opposition and to ask France to advise Czechoslovakia that the French government would not offer objection. This, it was said, Britain was not prepared to do.

It was reported also that the delicate Austrian problem would play a part in the conversations. A further complication was the known determination of Germany to seek colonial territories.

the Rural Electrification Administration prompted the action of the Brotherhood, members said.

Pickaway county's R. E. A. project is combined with that of Fairfield and Perry counties. Lines have been constructed in Fairfield county with appropriations made so far. It was believed it would be some time before work would be started in this county.

The Midland company has lines on Route 104 and short ones on Route 22 and the Williamsport-Chillicothe road.
